N. 21, 1904.

MADE biscuit cloth, Rager 215, mmed stitched velret 215, 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 45; 26, 4

ined satin. 45, New by Mirror.

Hat of claret-red 6d dull gold, etc.; 12s. 45, ... Daily Mirror.

R. Costume of pink throad: pleased 415, ...

of tweed, by see Bouley Mirror, 15, New Bouley Mirror, 15, New Bouley States, 15, New Bond-steel, 15, New rs of Cycluserage Mirror.

te 5095, "Daily Mirror.

W.

rs of pure silk 105 esc.
small size; cost 105 mirror.

0 3094, "Daily Mirror.

W.

ndsome silk and wool is to be a silk and wool is to be a good as new with the series of the series of grey semi-fitting 25s irror," 45, New Bond irror," 45, New Bond irror, " 45, New Bond improvements; 21, " Daily Miror, dark grey frieze acoat, trimmed black acoat, trimmed black acoat, trimmed black acoat, trimmed black acoat, acoat, rite 3161, Daily Met. Walking Moderate. W. ED smart grey Walking Moderate. Write 795, Boud-street, W.

arge kurven, hande at, playford worth and argent and argent and argent and argent arge the and his wewman.

Illingly—"www.man.

Similar on the second of the se parting with 5 car's, handsome crifice was Rings: sacrofice was tee long gold-cased befor gains; approval

"Write Airs. Le
"Write Airs. Le
"Wishes to sell ed;
lery, hall-marked; 2
carvers, and steeling,
worth ga; unselled,
"29, Holland-street,
"29, Holland-street,
"29, Holland-street,
"20, Holland-stree

frame; od, S. H.

directions, S. H.

SKINS, dressof, for spate, J.

So, dozen. J.

Jowellery, artificial and spate, J.

Jowellery, artificial and spate, J.

Jowellery, artificial and spate, J.

John M. J.

John

perfect and the second second

READ PAGES 15 AND 16.

The Daily Mirror.

No. 69.

Registered at the G. P. O. as a Newspaper.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 22. 1904.

One Penny.

NEXT SUNDAY'S

WEEKLY DISPATCH

WILL ANNOUNCE THE BIGGEST TREASURE HUNT ON RECORD.

£3,000
HIDDEN MONEY

NOT ON PRIVATE PROPERTY . . .

For CLUES See Next Sunday's . .

WEEKLY DISPATCH,

The Sunday Newspaper with New NEWS and

THE LATEST TELEGRAMS.

$100 of "Weekly Dispatch" Hidden Money was Discovered in London yesterday afternoon.

The Times Atlas

is the best authority to consult if you wish to be up-to-date as to the position of the Japanese and Russian Quarrel.

The MOST USEFUL and SUITABLE PRESENT is

The TIMES ATLAS.

"THE TIMES" ATLAS is a handsome folio volume, about 18 in. by 12 in size.

THE PAPER is of fine quality, thick substance, and beautiful finish.

THE MAPS cover 132 pages with blank backs.

THE INDEX contains references to 150,000 names.

THE BINDING varies according to the Editions, but in every Edition

THE MAPS are guarded throughout, and

THE BINDING is thoroughly strong and substantial, and
THE TITLE is printed in bold gold lettering on both back and side.

Cloth Edition.	Half-Morocco Edition.	Edition de Luxe.
27s. 6d. net.	35s. net.	55s. net.

OF ALL BOOKSELLERS.

COLEMAN'S

The FINEST TONIC and Restorative in the World.

COLEMAN & CO. Limited, Norwich and London Sample Boille seal or armited, Sample Bottle sent on receipt of 3d. in stamps to cover postage. (Please mention this paper.)

FISCAL REFORM

FISCAL ABC

Best Book on the Subject.

EVERYWHERE.

PATHETIC HUMAN INTEREST.

of perusing the striking series of revela-tions on Child Labour in London now starting in the LONDON MAGAZINE. On Sale everywhere, 41d. They are by ROBERT H. SHERARD, and are

THE CHILD SLAVES OF BRITAIN.

SIMPLEX "BRIDGE" RECORD.

Invaluable for Bridge Tournament

Specially compiled by the "Daily Mirror" "Bridge" Editor, 2, Carmelite-street, E.C. Post free, 1s. Id. Postal Orders crossed Barclay and Co.

SIMPLEX "BRIDGE RECORD.

POST FREE, Is. 1d.

TURNER'S TAMARIND EMULSION

is just the thing you require to keep you in health during these cold winter months. However careful you may be you can't help catching cold sometimes, but this remedy

POSITIVELY

a cold, if taken in time. It is pleasant and perfectly harmless, and gives instant relief in all cases of throat and lung complaints. When you realize this you will laugh at the weather and scorn

COUGHS and COLDS

Bottles 1/12 and 2/0. Tell your Chemist you must have "Turner's," or write to

THE HARVEY-TURNER COY., LTD., The Laboratory, Newcomen Street, Borough, S.E. The best record for use on any pis Talking Machine is the

"NICOLE RECORD." Price I/- each (7 inch).

Fits on any Gramophone, Zonophone. Disc Graphophone, etc.

DISC RECORDS.

NICOLE DISC RECORDS. UNBREAKABLE, INDESTRUCTIBLE, NEVER WEAR OUT.

> Seven inch, I/- each. Ten inch, 2/6 each.

HENRY KLEIN 8° CO. 84, Oxford Street,

TYPE-SETTERS IN

22, 1904. ARNIS.

he World.

and London er postage.

Bridge Tournaments.

compiled by the rror" "Bridge" Carmelite-street, t free, ls. Id. Orders crossed ay and Co.

SIMPLEX "BRIDGE RECORD.

FREE, Is. Id.

use on any Disc the RECORD."

h (7 inch). hone, Zonophone, phone, etc.

ISC RECORDS INDESTRUCTIBLE, WEAR OUT.

ich, I/- each. h, 2/6 each.

ILEIN & Co. Street, W.

TO.DAY'S WEATHER

Our special forecast for to-day is: Authority breezes; fair and cold generally; Light frost and tog. Lighting-up time, 5.29 p.m.

SEA PASSAGES. SEA PASSAGES.

Channel, North Sea and Irish and Sea and Irish channel, all smooth.

Daily Mirror.

Friday, Jan. 22, 1904.

PAGE 3.

1904.	January.			February.
Sun, Mon, Tues, Wed, Thurs, Fri. Sat.		24 25 26 27 28 29 30	31	1 2 3 4 5 6	7 8 9 10 11 12 13	14 15 16 17 18 19 20

TO-DAY'S BEST NEWS.

The King Queen, and Prince of Wales were the state of the memorial service for Admiral Sir Language, held yesterday at the Chapel Royal, language, a—(Page 4.)

Appa will not be satisfied, it is said, with Russian will not be satisfied, it is said, with Russian the acceptance of her proposals, but will inseed. Cettain events in Afghanistan seem to far Rest in Star Russian events in Afghanistan seem to the Sar Russian events in Afghanistan seem to the Sar Russian events in Afghanistan ev

as to the Indian frontier.—(Page w) Ballour, the Duke of Devonshire, Mr.
Chamberhain, and Mr. Walter Long decy—(Rage 3,)

War Office Reform last night.—(Page 5.)
War Of

one (Page 6.)

this tidence was given yesterday in the case that the King's Proctor seeks to prevent the the standard of the decree nisi obtained by the ex-clergyman, against his wife.—

to thildren have been found brutally done to the a house at Bethnal Green. Their father test, areased and remanded for a week.

Light which was offered for the finding of the state of t

Today's Arrangements. General.

King and Queen attend the Memorial Sertic Queen Victoria at Frogmore Mausoleum.

In a so of the Eighty Club.

Assauth, M.P., at Southport.

Read Grey, M.P., at Morpeth.

Ond Successors, Ltd., 118, Regent-st., W. am and Freebody, Wigmore-street, W. Rob-Egar, Piccadilly-circus.
Rob-Egar, Piccadilly-circus.
Ltd., Oxford-street, W. and Snelgrove, Oxford-street, W., and Snelgrove, W., and Snelgrove, W., and Snelgrove, W., and Snelgrove, W., and Snel

I. New Burlington-street.

and Stacey, Tottenham-court-road.
Lewis and Co., 5, Holbom-bars, E.C. ad Allenby, Regent-street and Conduit-

Sidney-place, Wardour-street.
Taylor, Sloane-street, S.W.
Sone-street, W.
Lead and treet, W.
Lead and Lead

TYPE-SETTERS IN TROUBLE.

Men on the "Daily News" hisagree and are Dismissed.

the large swinging doors of the "Daily seign chiterial and publishing offices, in the large system of the "Seign chiterial" and publishing offices, in the large state of the large stat anote agerly discussing what was a matter.

before they had been compositors the "Daily News." The reason not Paily News." The reason not Paily at their cases setting up and their cases of morning papers, as are paid by "piece"—that is to the amount of "copy" they had the case of morning papers, bloom cas. Non-union men, on have to make their own terms. Secure 241. for setting 1,000 cas. Non-union men, on the case of morning the properties and the properties has now expensed the compositors of the and its proprietors has now expensed period—in fact ever since Mr. the different cases and the compositors of the satisfactory to the Union men, so ally left the paper—some of them and fifteen years of service. Of the case of the ca

the managing director of the says the attitude of the Society of in view of the attitude of the Society of the advent of linotype shall, it is not as elastic as modern the says the clipped since the prediction of the preliminary arrangement was made to the says of the s

MADDER THAN EVER.

ANDER THAN EVER.

A third its sides yesterday when it became stands the House Committee of the local tenders in the lady visitors' recommendations are the lady visitors' recommendations and the lady visitors, it was resolved of the lady visitors in the recommendations are the lady visitors, and the lady visitors are the lady visitors are the lady visitors are the lady visitors and the lady visitors are the lady visitors are the lady visitors are lady visitors.

RUSSIA ON OUR INDIAN FRONTIER.

Is She Seeking to Withdraw Our Attention from the Far East?

THE CRISIS NOT YET OVER.

A small piece of news which Reuter communi-cates in the course of a long message from Afghani-stan is not devoid of significance, and may very possibly be connected with the situation in the Further East. The passage is as follows:— "The Ameer has sent a considerable number of officers and troops to Hirat to strengthen that military station against, it is said, the encroach-ments of the Russians, who have come into Iran in large numbers.

ments of the Russians, who have come into Iran in large numbers.

"Three Russian soldiers who recently crossed the Hamu were captured and brought before the Governor of Turkestan, who sent a report of the matter to the Ameer. The Russians stated that they were soldiers engaged in a hunting expedition. The Ameer ordered them to be sent to him directly, and they have now reached Kabul and are staying at Rag."

We all know what Russian "hunting expeditions" are. They have a strong family resemblance to the "scientific expeditions" which the Northern Power is so fond of pushing into the wilds of Central Asia and Mongolia.

Creating a Diversion.

22nd Day of Year.

Creating a Diversion.

Is it not possible that Russia is hoping to create a diversion, and to withdraw the eyes of Great Britain from the Far East by stirring up trouble on the Indian frontier? This is a perfectly intelligible policy, and one thoroughly consistent with the methods of Russian diplomacy.

Indeed, the idea has incautiously found expression in a Russian organ. The "Peterburgskiya Viedomosti," the organ of Prince Uktomsky, the leader of the Chauvinist party in Russia, freely advocates a policy of retaliation for our action in "providing naval officers and navy reserve men for the cruisers purchased by Japan from Argentian."

tina."

"Paying England back in her twn coin," the paper says, "Russia should authorise Russian officers and reservists to enter Persia's military service. Persia would thus obtain an excellent framework for her own troops, and a means of defending herself advantageously against the British."

No further news has been received of the Russian reply, but it is becoming increasingly evident that the Tsar's pacific utterances had less meaning than was at first attributed to them. A news agency states that the concluding portion of the Tsar's remarks, which would have given a quite different impression, was cut out by the Censor.

quite different impression, was cut out by the Censor.

A large number of members of the House of Commons and other leading people have sent an appeal to the Tsar and the Emperor of Japan outward bound.

praying that the matters in dispute shall be referred to the Hague Tribunal.

The list includes the whole of the Labour members, Lord Avebury, Lord Hobhouse, the Marquus of Bristol, Mr. Frederick Harrison, Mr. George Meredith, Sir John Gorst, Sir John MacDougall, L.C.C., Mr. Hall Caine, Mr. Silas Hocking. The telegrams were despatched last night by Mr. Cremer and Mr. W. T. Stead.

A MATERIAL GUARANTEE WANTED.

NEW YORK, Thursday.

The "Associated Press" publishes the following telegram from Tokio:—

"The belief in a settlement of the Russo-Japanese dispute has advanced stocks. It is declared, however, that Russia's mere acceptance of Japan's proposals is insufficient, and that Japan will unquestionably insist upon a definite plan of action and the reduction of the Russian fleet in Japanese waters."—Reuter.

This view was put forward in the Daily Mirror some weeks ago.

INSURRECTION FEARED IN KOREA.

SEOUL, Thursday.

Seven members of the Korean Cabinet have resigned, and four new Ministers have been appointed, all of them neutral as regards the revival of the Progressive Independence Clause, which the Government opposes.

A serious insurrection is threatened in the southern provinces owing to official oppression.—Reuter.

Reuter.

New York, Thursday.
A Scoul telegram states that the Emperor has ordered 700 revolvers and clubs to be distributed among the Feddlars, who, while nominally acting as secret police, in reality constitute a dangerous element in the population.—Reuter. NEGOTIATIONS MAY LAST WEEKS.

A St. Petersburg telegram to the "Lokalanzeiger" says: "A well-known diplomatist confirms the statement that Russia is sending fresh proposals to Japan, so that the negotiations will last several weeks.

"Russia will at any price avoid war, and hopes to win over Japan to the same way of thinking. Japan, too, is opposed to war, for otherwise she would have been able to take up arms under far more favourable conditions last summer, when Russia's position was less strong than now."—Reuter.

A BETTER ARMY.

Mr. Arnold Forster's Important Suggestions for Reorganisation.

In his speech last night at Liverpool Mr. Amold Forster, Secretary of State for War, made a series of important suggestions with a view to improving conditions in the Army and promoting its effiof imperent cape.

The report of the War Commission was not pleasant reading. It contained a record of extraordinarily strenuous and successful work in face of emergencies, but, nevertheless, there was enough in the report to cause grave disquiet.

His duty was to see that what was condemned by the report should not happen again.

The War Commission drew especial attention to the terrible inadequacy of our stores, but he was glad to say that, though much remained to be done, the deficiency had largely been made good by the wise expenditure of the ten millions voted for the purpose, carried out under the judicious guidance of General Brackenbury.

The Country's Two Alternatives.

He recognised that there was a strong feeling of discontent with the enormous expenditure upon the Army.

The country had two alternatives. They might spend less on the Army and get as much value as they got now, or they might spend as much as they did now and obtain better results than accrued at present.

The military machine creaked and moved rustily, but it would be madness to starve the present organisation because in the future a more effective and economic organisation would be created to replace it.

The Premier had appointed a committee of three exceedingly able men to investigate the matter. He hoped that when they made their recommendations no time would be lost in giving effect to them.

Conditions that Must be Changed.

Conditions that Must be Changed.

At the present moment we could not send one battalion at full strength from this country without mobilising the whole Army.

A definite instruction from the War Committee should be to see that we have in this country in time of a crisis a millitary force able to take the field at a moment's notice.

It should also be a definite instruction to devise a system to relieve the reserves from the pressure of uncertainty and alarm. He regarded it as a definite instruction to him to devise a plan whereby the number of trained subaltern officers and captains would be largely increased.

The barracks were bad. Instead of helping recruiting, these detestable places were keeping men out of the Army.

He was also anxious that some terms of enlistments should be formulated whereby men could be enlisted either for three years or eight years as desired.

An Impossible State of Affairs.

An Impossible State of Affairs

An Impossible State of Affairs.

Until we restored the Militia to the position of a substantive force, doing work which the country recognised as necessary, and on the proper performance of which its life depended, it would never be the force it ought to be.

He considered the Volunteers were most anxious to do everything to fit themselves for the ordeal of war, but he recognised that some, owing to the nature of their occupations, had more leisure time than others, and he believed it would add to the efficiency of the force if a classification of these two sets of Volunteers were made.

He was confident there was a way out of the difficulties connected with the Army.

LORD STANLEY.

Speaking at Liverpool last night Lord Stanley said the statement that he intended to resign office was the greatest nonsense in the world.

He reserved to himself the right of criticism of any particular point of policy, and could do that from outside as an independent supporter as well as from inside the Government. But he was a member of the Conservative Party, to which he owed allegiance which he would never forfeit.

NO HOPE OF LESS TAXATION.

At the Carpenters Company last night Mr. Austen Chamberlain said he was afraid that the coming years could not be expected to be so prosperous as the years that 4nd passed.

Revenue returns would not realise the Budget anticipations; unforeseen expenditure had arisen in Somaliand, and the campaign would exceed the had thought fit to purchase the two Chilian battleships completing in this country. Under these circumstances he was afraid a remission of taxation would not be possible.

MAKING THE BEST OF THINGS.

Mr. Morley, at Arbroath last night, said he was told when he first came to the Montrose Burghs that the people on that side of the Border were cold-blooded, but he had not found it so.

He expressed the hope that, whatever their political faith might be, they would try to make the best they could of the world in which they lived.

PREMIER AT A NOISY GATHERING.

Mr. Balfour, as Chancellor of Edinburgh University, presided yesterday over a great gathering to hear an address by Sir Robert Finlay, M.P., the Lord Rector, on international arbitration.

During the delivery of the address the students behaved in the customary boisterous manner, and few of the aldience were able to hear the speechs.

MUSIC THE

MUSIC HATH CHARMS.

[Mr. Budgett Meakin has been proposing that the system he has noticed abroad of working to music in factories should be adopted here. .Why not have a municipal organ to stimulate the traffic-disturbers to more heroic efforts?]

HOW THE FATHER OF THE FLEET WAS "TOWED TO HIS LAST BERTH."

"In Loving Memory of My Beloved Little Admiral, Best and Bravest of From Alexandra. Rest in Peace." Men.

James Curry's Callons Crime Came of Starvation.

The story of the Bethnal Green tragedy, as told to a Daily Mirror representative, is quite simple. The Currys, father, mother, and the two murdered boys, came to No. 49, Gibraltar-walk, about five weeks ago. They took one room. During the past fortnight Curry had no work. Still they were tidy, sober people. On Wednesday Mrs. Curry went out to borrow a shilling in order to get something to eat. She left her husband in their room with the boys, but when she returned some time after eight the door was guarded by policemen, and she was refused admission.

The window of their room showed no light, and Mrs. Curry, wife-like, was quick to observe it. "The lamp's not alight," she cried, "oh, my poor children!" She had bought a half-quartern loaf," said the landlady to our representative, "with 24cl, and the 94cl change she had wrapped in her handkerchief—the loaf is in my place now—poor thing."

There are signs on the necks of the two children that suggest strangulation, together with some abrasions of the skin that hardly warrant the conclusion that either knile or razor had been used.

The neighbours never heard a sound; and in the same quite tway in which he is supposed to have done his sons to death, James Curry walked off, gave himself up to the police, and confessed his crime.

Yesterday, in the dock at Worship-street Police.

ime.

Yesterday, in the dock at Worship-street Police
ourt, he was charged on his own confession.

Detective-Inspector Divall said he found the ildren naked and dead, with stabs in their

when charged at the station on Wednesday urry said, "It is quite right. It may be a bad ing to say, but I am glad they are dead. I arted it, and I am glad I finished it, and perhaps by wife will be sorry."

MOTOR MORALITY.

Constable Without a Stop - Watch Simply has an Opinion.

Simply has an Opinion.

Kingston County Bench heard their first cases under the new Motor-Car Act yesterday. Superintendent Marks said that Mr. Herbert Coombes had driven a motor-car at 271 miles an hour. He was a quarter of a mile from where the measured distance began, but he could easily see when defendant entered it.

Corroborating Marks, P.C. Lucas said he had no stop-watch, but it was simply his opinion that the pace was over twenty-five miles an hour.

He was running in front of the car with his back to it when it stopped.

The Chairman: The question is, Was the witness looking in front or behind?

The sergeant said he was looking both ways.

After a long conference the majority of the Bench thought a fine of 29s, met the case.

Later Mr. H. Liddell, of Lynwood, Addisoncrescent, was called, but he did not appear. The Chairman said the Bench had a letter from a firm of solicitors complaining that this summons, which was issued on January 18, was made returnable on the 21st, which left defendant only two days to prepare his defence.

The Bench agreed that it was not reasonable, especially now there was danger of imprisonment, to treat motorists as though they had been drunk and disorderly. He hoped in future that at least seven days would be allowed. The summons would be adjourned for a week.

IN TERROR IN MID-AIR.

Eleven miners of Britannia Colliery, Gilfuch, were yesterday for some hours hanging in midair in terror of their lives.

As the cage was being hauled up the shaft the guide ropes became entangled, bringing both up and down cages to a standstill.

The men in the cages remained suspended in midair, and hundreds of people, greatly excited, thronged the pit head.

At length a mechanic named Rees Jenkins descended the shaft with great courage and released the ropes.

FALL AND ITS CONSEQUENCE.

Mr. Douglas Cox, for many years manager of the Alhambra, is lying very dangerously ill at his home in Briston, as the result of an accident. On New Year's night he fell from a 'bus in the Briston-road, and was picked up unconscious and taken to St. Thomas's Hospital. At first the injury was not considered sufficiently serious to keep him in the hospital, and he was sent home, but later it was found that trepanning would be necessary. A blood clot was found on

SERENADING A QUEEN.

The celebrations in connection with the jubilee of the Queen-mother of Holland were inaugurated yesterday by a gala dinner given by Queen Wilhelmina, who made a speech in her own name and that of the Prince Consort.

In the evening an immense crowd, carrying torches and accompanied by military bands, assembled to serenade the Queen-mother, and addresses of homage were presented.—Reuter.

A horsed escape belonging to the St. John's Wood Fire Station was proceeding at full gallop late on Wednesday night to a fire when the foreaxle snapped, causing the machine to turn over. The coachman and one fireman were injured.

GLAD HIS BOYS ARE DEAD, Sir Harry Keppel is Buried in a Peaceful Country Churchyard, Surrounded by His Old Comrades, and the Blue, the Scarlet, and Gold of Sailors

In the quiet country churchyard of Winkfield, his native place, all that was mortal of Admiral of the Fleet Sir Harry Keppel was yesterday laid to rest.

The great yews spread their evergreen branches, the immemorial elms stood black and naked in the pale winter sunshine, the simple, moss-grown graves of the sleeping generations lay grey, untroubled, in this peaceful garden of the dead.

Winkfield is three miles from Ascot Station, a picturesque village clustering round its age-old church.

A special train had brought the remains from London, with mourners and pall-bearers; a naval guard of honour was drawn up at the railway station.

A gun-carriage with white drag ropes stood ready with a party of petty officers at hand. Marines stood at ease during the wait, and officers spoke together in low tones.

For there was passing to his last rest the grand old man of the senior service; there was to be expunged from the Navy List the name of one who stood for all that was bravest and best in a gallant profession. Full of years and honour, with a past stretching well-nigh over a century, Harry Keppel was coming to his last home.

"Safe Home in -Port."

'Safe Home in Port."

"Safe Home in Port."

The sun was shining brightly as the train from London glided into the station, and the waiting marines and bluejackets stiffened to attention as, covered with the ensign he had so greatly honoured, and with his cocked hat, baton, and sword lying on the coffin-lid, the body was borne to the gun-carriage. Wreaths of red, and wreaths of white, and wreaths of wiolet-blue came with the train.

rain.
His Majesty the King and her Majesty the Dueen had sent a last tribute to their old friend,
And with the train, resplendent in their blue, and look, and white, had come the great masters of he fleet, Richards, Stephenson, Culme-Seymour,
'remantle, Kerr, Seymour, and Pearsondwirels all

Fremantle, Kerr, Seymour, and Pearson—admirals all.

So the procession formed and moved slowly through the little town of Ascot, and then with the town left behind quickened its pace over the heavy roads leading to Winkfield. First an escort of one hundred red marines, as was befitting to the rank of the dead. Then a firing party of bluejackets, arms reversed and stepping gravely. Then the band with the mournful strains of a funeral march; then—flanked by the pall-bearers: Admiral Sir Michael Culme-Seymour, Admiral the Hon. Sir Edmund Fremantle, Admiral Lord Walter Kerr, Admiral Sir Edward Seymour, Vice-Admiral Hugo Pearson, and General White, of the Royal Marines—the flag-covered coffin.

It was fully an hour and a half before the procession reached the lych-gate of the little church, and Marines.

Reference has already been made to the wreath sent by the Queen. It was the only wreath borne on the coffin, and the card attached bore the following beautiful inscription from her Majesty's own hand:

"In loving memory of my beloved little Admiral, best and bravest of men: from Alexandra. Resin peace."

THE KING AT THE MEMORIAL SERVICE.

By royal command a memorial service for the late admiral was held this afternoon at the Chapel Royal, St. James's Palace. The King and Queen, with Princess Victoria and the Prince of Wales, were present. Their Majesties and their Royal Highnesses arrived at the private entrance to the Chapel Royal shortly before one o'clock, and were conducted to the Royal Gallery.

The Duke of Connaught slipped in unobserved at the last moment. There was a very large gathering of naval and military officers, prominent among whom were Lord Roberts, Field-Marshal Sir Frederick Haines, Admiral Sir Bowden-Smith, General Sir Hugh and Lady Gough, Admiral the Hon. Victor Montague, and Lieutenant-General Tatouche.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Edgar Tatouche.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Edgar Sheppard, D.D., Sub-Dean of the Chapels Royal, and, commencing with the Hymn "Safe Home, Safe in Port," in place of the opening lines of the Burial Service, included (it is understood by royal request) Lord Tennyson's beautiful hymn, "Crossing the Bar," set to music by Sir Frederick Bridge. The service was deeply impressive, and concluded with the "Marche Funèbre" of Chopin.

"WOOD DRAGON'S YEAR." "WHITE SLAVE" VICTIM.

Which Argues Calamity for Tibet-Fighting Probable.

A Reuter's special message gives an interesting account of the Tibetan expedition.

It says the people of Chumbi and Phari continue to acquiesce in the presence of the mission, They say this is the "Wood Dragon's Year," which is always marked by some calamity to Tibet, and they are praying that the British may allow a little snow to fall, in order that the grass may flourish next year.

"The inhabitants of Phari Plain," adds the correspondent, "are the most degraded natives I have yet seen. They are perfectly black with dirt, and most of them have free bloodshot eyes, with which they gaze at you from under matted locks.

with which they gaze at you from under matter locks,
"Phari Fort is now adorned with engravings of the King and the Royal Family, taken from the illustrated papers and from advertisements."
It is interesting to note that the Tibetams also suffer from dumping, for "their tents are of European manufacture."
Reports are arriving at Darjiling to the effect that the Tibetams are becoming truculent, and that the Lamas declare that they will appeal to Russia if the British advance is continued.
It is believed in several quarters that fighting is likely in the near future.

TOO SCANTY FOR PARIS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, Thursday.

Judgment was given to-day in the action brought against atlle. Madeleine Cartier by the managers of the Theatre des Mathurins because of her refusal to accept a rôle allotted to her in the play "Fleurs d'Amour," on the ground that the costume she was asked to wear on the stage was too scanty.

scanty.

Her manager claims £200, the amount stipulated for non-fulfilment of the contract.

After the magistrates had been shown the sketch of the costume in question, they upheld the actress, and the manager was non-suited.

OFFICERS FORBIDDEN THE THEATRE.

The military authorities of Hanover have for-bidden the officers and soldiers of the garrison to visit the Residenz Theatre, owing to the produc-tion of a play illustrating military life. The play in question is the hit of the season in Berlin.—Reuter.

Young Girl Decoyed from Her Home By Specious Promises.

That abominable trade, the "white slave traffic," is again exercising the police of Paris owing to the disappearance of Gabrielle Deixheimer, a beautiful girl of sixteen, belonging to the working classes, who has fallen a victim to the promises and blandishments of those diabolical harpies that range the streets of the capital in order to decoy young women away from their homes.

Gabrielle had been working at several of the little trades that employ the Parisian "trottense." She was one of the large army of bare-headed girls whose modest manner and pretty faces brighten the streets of Paris during the huncheon hour, and of a morning and evening when work begins and ceases.

ceases.

An orphan, living with her mother and younger brothers and sisters, Gabrielle has disappeared, leaving no trace behind her.

Only a letter in which she has stated that her new friends have promised her a complete outfit and fine clothes and a holiday in the country.

The inference is obvious.

obvious.

Gabrielle had been out of work of late, and her mother admits to having spoken sharply to her once or twice, but she never dreamt that Gabrielle would leave her home after the little scenes that had divided them.

The mother believes that the girl may have been taken to Nice, or even to the Transvaal, and complains bitterly of the formal and circumlocutory way in which the police have taken up the search for her.

MR. LONG ON THE ALIEN "HORROR."

Mr. Walter Long, M.P., at Limehouse last night, referring to the overcrowding amongst forgingnes in the set as said that, when he reflequed on all the vidences and that we had, he marvelled that the English workshad to tresist layrors of that kind by force. He was thankful that the people of this country were so law-abiding and so patient that they would strain every nerve to get their remedy by constitutional means rather than adopt other means.

The Duchess of Albany and her daughter, Princess Alice of Albany, arrived at Windsor Castle yesterday on a visit to the King and Queen.

OUR PETTY PLANET.

Facts a Little Humbling Conceit of Earth-Dwellers.

Last October a corona ray from the saw world fair and square, and upset the cable all over the world. One day this poor pla get a knock-out blow, and then we shall more cables.

When there is famine in the land ite year of sunspots, and one day, as scienced we may be able by means of the assistance we may be able by means of the assistance of the science of the same part of the same pa

GADARENE COW.

How the Priest Tried to Calpi Bereaved Parent.

Bereaved Parent.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT).

The following episode happened in it reads like 1104:—

A cow at a village near Bregeny, it stance, lost its calf. Mad with grief, at the mouth, and was thought by the solutions country people to be possessed by a chaptened with the property of the solutions of t

NEWS IN LITTLE.

Thirty vessels are now detained in Ballarbour by the sailors' strike.

Lord and Lady Tennyson sailed Yester Adelaide for England by the steamer Out Lord Northcote, the new Governorthe Australian Commonwealth, landed bourne yesterday.

The plant of the Tubing Corporation of Ohio, valued at £600,000, was practically by fire yesterday.

The Sultan regrets that we was preceded a cold" from receiving the Austro-Hungarian Civil Agents in Macedonia departure from Constantinople.

Mr. Hall, three times Mayor of been sued for a bill of £3 for perfum powder. The Judge said the wrong been sued. Mrs. Hall was liable.

The North German Lloyd steamer that the first of the two expeditionally cold to quell the rising in German Lloyd German Lloyd Seamer Cold to the Cold that t

The Lord Mayor has signified his will acceive contributions towards the fluid the sufferers by the Bloemfontein disable theques have already been received at the House.

The sum of .e2,500 was awarded as of tion to a coffee-house keeper named Dunderday for the compulsory acquirement, and makes the Millbank-street under the LCC.

"Alice Through the Looking Glass its fifteth performance to-morrow and in the event Mr. John Donald is giving a tree tea party between the afternance or performances at the New Theatre.

The Was an O

The War Office Reconstitutes of the War Office Reconstitutes of the Reconstitute of th

A grand ball in aid of the funds query venor Hospital for Women and Children square, Westminster, will be held at far hospital for the funds of the

JAN. 22, 1904.

LONDON'S

Blaze of Decorations and Yesterday's Weddi

sedom has there been seen a mo than Miss Beatrice Paget, yesterday the walked up the aisle of St. Pete

HERBERT, YESTER BRIDEGROOM.

gown of softest crèpe de Chine (

THE DUKE OF DEV

a picture of the Dul martial bearing shou

. 22, 190 ERTH."

ravest of

TY PLANET. Humbling to the Earth-Dwellers.

Sun and Sunpoles by a superior substantial substantial

Mr. Maunders, and rainfall. But there ffect the weather in the land it is gathered ans of the assistance ans of the assistance in the land it is assistance and to take stemine, and to take stemine.

the only vagaries e termed "prominence, which think nothing miles a second, and is

RENE COW. st Tried to Calm ved Parent.

VN CORRESPONDENT Thu VIENNA, 1904, dasside happened in 1904, dassi mad with grief was thought by to be possessed to go near it, and

IN LITTLE.

of £3 for perfume said the wrong all was liable.

LONDON'S LOVELIEST BRIDE.

HERBERT, YESTERDAY'S BRIDEGROOM. [Lafayst:

BRIDEGROOM. [Lafayette.]

An inn at Llandenny, a Monmouthshire village near Abergavenny, had been closed a whole day.

When an entrance was forced the bodies when an entrance was forced the bodies at by a serkeant of the Blues, who presented her

The.

The circumstances seemed to point to murder and suicide.

"ANARCHICAL COUNCILLORS."

websacpar contemnation was meted out to the attitude towards the Education Act at Chester Diocesan Conference yesterday. Dr. Jayne, the Bishop of Chester, declared that their policy was a glaringly anarchical one. He doubted whether such a policy would keep or make Wales a nation of honest men.

The Bishop went on to say that to the honour of Professor Jones he had described the course recommended by ...f. Lloyd-George and his confederates as "unjust, un-Christian, immoral, and cowardly."

TRAGEDY OF AN INN.

THE DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE READY FOR THE FISCAL FRAY.

a picture of the Duke in fancy costume. His hand is on his sword, and his martial bearing should spread alarm in the ranks of the protectionists.

and troopers of Lord Herbert's

WHERE A TRADE UNION IS WANTED

as given away by her brother, Mr.
and her long satin train was carelles, in picturesque blue and white and pale bridgesmaids—Miss Whinfred
and pale bridgesmaids—Miss Whinfred
the bridgesmaids—for and white bonnets.
A TRABE UNION IS WANTED

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

Some medical men in Rome and certain leaders
of society are doing their best to set public opinion
of society are doing their best to set public opinion
in Rome, Friday.

Some medical men in Rome and certain leaders
of society are doing their best to set public opinion
in Rome, Friday.

To some medical men in Rome and certain leaders
of society are doing their best to set public opinion
in Rome, Friday.

To some medical men in Rome and certain leaders
of society are doing their best to set public opinion
in Rome, Friday.

To some medical men in Rome and certain leaders
of society are doing their best to set public opinion
in Rome, Friday.

To some medical men in Rome and certain leaders
of society are doing their best to set public opinion
in Rome, Friday.

To some medical men in Rome and certain leaders
of society are doing their best to set public opinion
in Rome, Friday.

To some medical men in Rome and certain leaders
of society are doing their best to set public opinion
in Rome and certain leaders
of society are doing their best to set public opinion
in Rome and certain leaders
of society are doing their best to set public opinion
in Rome and Certain leaders
of society are doing their best to set public opinion
in Rome and Certain leaders
of society are doing their best to set public opinion
in Rome and Certain leaders
of society are doing their best to set public opinion
in Rome and Certain leaders of society are doing their best to

MISS BEATRICE PAGET, who yesterday became Lady Herbert.

[Photo by Thompson.

WORK FOR THE "OUT OF WORKS."

The committee of the Mansion House Fund for the relief of exceptional distress arising from de-pression in trade or other industrial causes, has drawn up a scheme. Some of the chief points are:—

Work is offered in the country to married men, or male heads of families, in the settled homes.
"Settled homes" ordinarily means twelve months' residence at present address.
Preference will be given to men who can afford proof of continuous employment at some fairly recent time.

proof of continuous employment as cent time.

Work is offered for continuous periods of not less than one month, chiefly spade work.

The men are maintained in the country, while substantial relief is given to their families in London.

The men are free to return at the end of the month, or at any other time, but their places will not be reserved for them.

The office of the executive committee is at the Great Assembly IIall, Mile End-road.

COSMOPOLITAN CONCERT GOERS.

Mr. Alfred Lane, of the Concert Goers' Club, wishes to correct the mistaken impression that he is desirous of excluding foreign elements from the club.

So far from this being his intention, he will heartily welcome anybody, of whatever nationality, who takes an carnest interest in musical progress in this country.

MR. ARNOLD FORSTER, Secretary for War, Who made an important speech on War Office Photo by] Reform last night, [Russell & Sons.

JABBERJEE'S TASTE FOR SMOKE.

Cigarettes, imported chiefly from the United States, are being now consumed on a vast scale in British India.

Not only Indian men and boys, but Indian women and girls are fast taking to cigarettesmoking.

In the respectable middle classes this practice is still hated, but in the other classes the conquest of the cigarette is complete.

HAVEN FOR ANCIENT MARINERS.

King Edward has signified his intention of be-coming an annual subscriber to the funds of the Royal Alfred Aged Merchant Seamen's Institution.

Mr. Balfour smiles upon his

The annual report of that splendid charity shows that during 1903 there was a large increase in the number of old sailors elected to receive help from it—135, as against 83 in 1902. It would seem that we are growing more careful of the old age of those who help in the maintaining of our commercial sea power at home and abroad.

SCENE PAINTERS' DINNER.

There will be a dinner given to the scene painters of London at the Imperial Restaurant, Regentstreet, on Sunday, January 31, when Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema, R.A., will preside.

The President of the Royal Academy and most of the leading actor-managers of the London theatres will be present. Mr. Balfour is among those who have joined the reception committee.

Trade troubles continue in Spain, the octroi ques-tion being a fertile source of dispute. Some en-thusiastic spirits, anxious to do something, have sacked a church at Valentia.

COMPLETE DENIAL TO PAINFUL CLERICAL SCANDAL CHARGES.

The Village Baker was Annoyed, and is Said to Have Dropped the ex-Cleric Into His Flour Mill.

Witness Box-The Judge Delivers a Solemn Warning.

The final stage in the Whitaker Wright trial has been at length reached. Only counsels' cul-minating speeches and the Judge's summing-up remain to be got through before the jury gives its decision.

It was a very weary, question-riddled Mr. Wright that descended from the witness-box at half-past three o'clock yesterday afternoon—a Mr. Wright who had been in the witness-box for the better part of three legal days. Sixteen hours altogether he had spent there, and of these sixteen, tenstrenuous hours had been devoted to an encounter with Mr. Isaacs, K.C., that is almost worthy to be included in any future book on "the greatest battles of the world."

It was computed at the back of the court that the famous financier weighed at least one stone six pounds less when he returned to his seat at the solicitors' table than when he left it on Tuesday morning.

solectors' table than when he left it on I uesday morning.

To the general surprise and the keen disappointment of those who had been looking forward to the intellectual treat of hearing the opinions of Mr. Wright's accountants on esoteric finance—it was announced that no further evidence would be called on Mr. Wright's behalf. So Mr. Isaacs immediately started on his task of marshalling the intricacies of the case in a great final array.

Before Mr. Isaacs and Mr. Wright resumed their marvellous exhibition of financial thrust and parry at the beginning of the day one of those awesome incidents that still from time to time remind us of the dread power of the law had occurred.

The Court Feels Awed.

of the dread power of the law has occurred.

The Court Feels Awed.

When Mr. Justice Bigham entered the court it was seen that his brow was sterner than usual, and that there was an ominous tightening of the judicial lips. Taking his seat, he spoke as follows, gravely, slowly, in accents that held the whole assembly awe-bound:—

"Before we resume the hearing I desire to say that I am daily in receipt of anonymous communications, most of them of an abusive kind, about this case. I should have not taken any notice of these communications had I not had reason to believe that attempts have recently been made, of a much more serious character, in other directions to interfere with the course of justice."

At this point the tones of the Judge became more solemn than ever, and he continued:—
"I desire to publicly warn all persons that such conduct will bring them into the gravest difficulty, and entail the most serious consequences."

As the learned Judge concluded he looked for a moment towards the jury, and then everybody who had sat through the trial remembered how on the first day he had warmed the weekye good men and true not to have anything to say on the ambject of finance—as applied to this trial—to plausible strangers.

There was a sigh of relieved tension in court when the Judge had finished. Several—quite innovent—people had had a sort of feeling that their heads were about to be ordered off.

Mr. Wright's Insommia.

Mr. Wright's Insomnia.

Mr. Wright's Insomnia.

After this incident the renewed dialogue between Mr. Isaacs and Mr. Wright appeared for a time quite tame in comparison. Some light-shedding statements, however, were made. Among these was one by Mr. Wright that cleared up the mystery as to why he went to sleep in court on Friday last. Mr. Wright said that for the last two years he has been suffering from insomnia, and has had to get the help of his physician to obtain relief.

Obviously, from this statement, on Friday a sleeping draught had been mistimed.

It should be mentioned that it was not by way of apology for going to sleep that Mr. Wright spoke of his insomnia. He was explaining why his memory for details was not up to Mr. Isaacs's requirements.

interments. Before Mr. Lawson Mr. Isaacs Expansible Mr. Lawson Before Mr. Isaacs began his speech Mr. Lawson Before Mr. Isaacs began his speech Mr. Lawson Mr. Isaacs Delasture among the jury, who whole day. The Judge then considered the test to whether they would like to sit on Saturday, te it all over as soon as possible. On the jury nowing general willingness to devote their hall believe the more more more more more willing—the decision on this matter was februed.

red.

a sort of antidote to the prospect of many is of speeches, the Judge told the jury that he dd boil down—this expression, of course, was his lordship's—the twenty-six counts of the ecution's indictment and present the issue as olly as possible.

T. Isaacs's speech began yesterday, and will ably last for the greater part of to-day.

REMEMBERED 200 YEARS AGO.

"I'm a rateatcher, yer worship. I took the busi-ness from Uncle Chad," said Mr. Carter, of Brent-ford, who was up for trespassing in search of rabbits.

rabbits.

"What 1" exclaimed Mr. Sharpe. "You a descendant of Chad, who 200 years ago obtained 10s. from the Rector of Hanwell by pretending to have smallpox.

Chad did not ask what this marvellous and cryptic piece of memory meant.

"I catch rats," he said simply.
"You will be fined 10s.," said Mr. Sharpe.

All through obliging a lady with a four-ale glass, which is thick and holds more, Ernest Sandall, a barman, was assaulted by his employer, turned out, and spent a night in the streets. "One is always learning," remarked Judge Edge.

Mr. Wright at Length Quits the One of Many Witnesses, Who in the Divorce Court Judge Restrains the Issue Yesterday Described Incidents in Mr. Evans's Career, Was Enjoined That "Mum's the Word."

Among those whose business drew them to the High Courts of Justice yesterday were a number of people who had journeyed from more or less remote rural districts at the behest of the King's Proctor, in order that Sir Francis Jeune might hear what they had to tell concerning Mr. David Evans, formerly vicar of St. Mark's, South Shields. These witnesses were chiefly residents from places in which the ex-clergyman had stayed after he was deposed from his living.

Their presence in the Divorce Court was required in order that they might support the arguments which have been put forward to justify the intervention of the King's Proctor to prevent the decree nisi obtained in July, 1802, by Mr. Evans said he was now living at South Shields. The Allegations were Untrue.

The Allegations were Untrue.

The ex-cleric himself was then examined. Mr. Evans sail geed that Mr. Evans's behaviour conduced to his wife's misconduct; hence the intervention. In proof of the statement that when under the influence of drink Mr. Evans behaviour conduced to his wife's misconduct; hence the intervention. In proof of the statement that when under the influence of drink Mr. Evans was very wild and violent in his conduct, Mrs. Davis, a former servant in the house, told the Court that Mr. Evans behaviour conduced to the Privy Council. The case was never the conduct, with a subscient in his conduct, Mrs. Davis, a former servant in the house, told the Court that Mr. Evans used to threaten his wife, and on one occasion broke the panel of a bedroon the in his endeavour to Sham Newspaper Placerds and Tells an Amusing Story.

An injunction extending over to-day if granted yesterday in the Chancery Division Mr. Justice Kekewich, on the application day "Daily Mail," restraining Messra. Bullet of the posters of the "Daily Mail," and calk to be posters of the "Daily Mail," and calk to induce people to believe that they were to induce people to believe that they were by the "Daily Mail," His lordship and significant to serve short notice of motion for afternoon.

In making the application Mr. Sheldon sale was to restrain a certain posters a correct the exhibited in court. This was in every similar to the posters of the "Daily Mails it appeared, set out in large letters."

RELEASE OF MRS. MAYBRICK. And then in very small letters, difficult to real any distance,

Much Talked About, but She is Still Wilhia Priss

Come and Santia Walls.

Come and See "Sentenced for Life" and You Walls.
Witness the Life of the Convict.
These bills. M.

Walls.

Witness the Life of the Coaviet.

Witness the Life of the Coaviet.

These bills, Mr. Sheldon continued, we shall be completed by the continued of the coaviet.

The complete bought the "Daily Mail, with the people bought the "Daily Mail, Mapping the continued of the coaviet.

Were naturally very angry with the end by which they thought they have been by His Lordship: These are not issued.

"Daily Mail?"

Mr. Sheldon: No, they are issued by prictions of a touring company at the prictors of a touring company at the Theatre. The result is that they greatly the reputation of the "Daily Mail."

How the Judge Was Taken In.

How the Judge Was Taken In

How the Judge Was Taken In.

The Judge remarked that the method of tisement was very ingenious, and the court by relating the following ancedet:

"I remember," he said, "long before strong the court by relating the following ancedet you gentlemen can remember, when I weight ford, seeing a large bill with the words for the country of t

SCARED THE POLICE.

Uniforms Fight Shy of "Shiner gob

"Shiner Bob" is comparatively little in Bobite circles, but Stepney rings with his in Fe is known officially as Albert Heidman his in trouble over the death of a Stepney hamed Jones, on whom an inquest way yesterday.

is in trouble over the death of a stephone and poles, on whom an inquest sey sesterday.

On Saturday Jones was standing below the standard of the standard s

THE BRIEF BAG.

"Poor people spend too much said Judge Edge yesterday. Some (institute should take the matter up funerals at reasonable rates.

Pigs' lung, unfit for the food of m on the premises of Carl Hetzel, as Counsel objected to the suggestion that assages. £10 and costs, all the same

"All the materials for a costly action, the Hopkins at Lambeth Police Court, and Bird was summoned for cutting a tree in a first of which Thomas Pardue claimed "An attempt to get for 2s. what would prost £2,000."

AN IMPORTANT WITNESS FEELS HER POSITION ACUTELY.

get at her. At times Mrs. Evans would make her escape from the house, and seek refuge with the were his children. His wife, he said, had made a statutory declaration that one of the children was not his.

He denied having been drinking. His wife had said so, but it was absolutely false. When he went to Barnstaple he sent his wife weekly sums of money. He admitted that there was one child of the marriage.

The statement that had been made that he put his fist through the panel of the bedroom door was very much exaggerated. The glass was very thin, and he broke it in knocking at the door. He had never threatened his wife.

Mr. Priestley (for the King's Proctor): You got Miss Douglas (the respondent) to make a declaration that her first child was not yours?—Yes, and that was true.

You were vicar of the parish at the time?—Yes.

And yet you kept her on.—Yes; she liked the home. get at ner. At times, and seek refuge with the neighbours.

Then a farmer from Much Gower, where afterwards Mr. Evans was a schoolmaster, said that he met the latter in the street one day. "The street was not wide enough for him," he added as an illustration of the state in which he considered Mr. Evans to be. A grocer named Haynes, from Mommouth, said that after Mrs. Evans left their town her husband came into his shop, and in the course of conversation stated that his wife had been guilty of impropriety with a schoolmaster.

course of conversation stated that his wife had been guilty of impropriety with a schoolmaster.

HIS Head Endangered.

A witness, who is a licensed victualler, said that Mr. Evans accused him of originating a scandalous rumour with regard to his wife. "I told him," the witness added with warmth, "that for two pins I would knock his head through the bar partition." A carpenter named Herbert Cook wastreated as a confidant. Mr. Cook told the Court that Mr. Evans, after telling him about his past life, said "Mum's the word." After hearing more confidences the grocer told the ex-vicar he ought to be ashamed of himself, whereupon the injunction, "Mum's the word," was repeated. Mr. Evans told him he did not work, and that the clergy assisted him.

Once the grocer saw Mr. Evans staggering drunk outside an inn on a Sunday night. On another occasion he was drunk, and his dark suit of clothes was covered in flour.

Counsel: Did you ask him how he got into that condition?—No, I found out that he had been annoying the village baker, who dropped him into the flour mill.

Mr. Evans's counsel, however, said that some people had been throwing flour at him.

At this stage Sir Francis Jeune remarked that Mr. Evans at the time of his petition did not dis-

And yet you keep to home. Was it becoming in you to marry a woman with four illegitimate children?—She told me she had been previously married to a sailor, or something of that sort.

THE EX-VICAR LISTENS TO THE EVIDENCE WITH RISING INDIGNATION.

were his children. His wife, he said, had made a statutory declaration that one of the children was been previously married to a sailor, or something of that sort.

You always denied they were yours?—Yes.
Mr. Priestley read a circular letter which Mr. Evans had sent out begging for assistance, in which he said, "I earnestly implore you to read the accompanying paper, and kindly to extend a little help to enable us to tide over this terrible crisis, if only for the sake of my wife and four children."
Mr. Evans explained that he described them as "his" children because he had charge of them and they were depending on him. In the course of his evidence he stated that his affairs got to a very low ebb at one period, and that at Hereford he was engaged in literary and journalistic work. He wrote items of news and leaderettes for a London syndicate.
The hearing was then adjourned.

CHAMPION CAKE WALKER'S SECRETS.

Champion Cake-Walker Harry Martell caught his foot in a grating, fell, and sprained his wrist. He sued yesterday the owners of the grating for damages. "So," said he, smiling, to Judge Smyly, "as the secret of the 'cake-walk' is rapid arm and wrist movement, I lost several engagements," He was awarded 425.

SOBER HORSE SENSE.

Cabman (at the Tottenham Police Court): I had had a drop, but the horse knew.
Alderman Huggett: Knew what—that you were drunk?
Prisoner: Well, sir, he sometimes knows that, but he always knows where he is going to.
The Alderman: Then he sometimes knows more than you. Ten shillings and costs.

JAN. 22, 1904.

THE FREE

[A full-dress dinner of

MUSICAL PRODI Who Composed a Work at 10 Year

attian girl pianist of seventet the girl in the Bechatein Hall the Bechatein Hall the girl in the Bechatein Hall the girl in t

POCKET EXPLOSION

he ex-Cleric Into ge Restrains the Issue am Newspaper Placerds and Tells an Amusing Story.

injunction extending over to-day is a yesterday in the Chancery Division of the street of the street

RELEASE OF MRS. MAYBRICK ben in very small letters, difficult to feel istance, h Talked About, but She is Still Within Prins Walls. e and See "Sentenced for Life," and Yea Walls.

Witness the Life of the Convict.

with the second of the second of the within the second of the second of the Judge Was Taken in

SCARED THE POLICE.

orms Fight Shy of "Shiner gold the Stepney Terror.

hiner Bob" is comparatively little his little circles, but Stepney rings with his little stands as the comparative of the stands have been supported by trouble over the death of a Stepney d Jones, on whom an inquest was reday.

rd Jones, on whom an inquest rday.

1 Saturday Jones was standing before the fire at a lodging-house when it is a same the indignant husband caught him all the indignant husband caught him all the indignant husband caught him all to soon after died, remarkings of the indignant husband caught him all the soon after died, remarkings of the indignant husband caught him all the soon after died, remarkings of the L.C.C., told the cornorer that there is a L.C.C., told the cornorer that here is gle person in Spitalfields who was get person in Spitalfields who was get to the district."

2 Cornorer: I understand that one is good the lodging-house turn him seek the first the cornor in the standard to go where "Shiner Bob". He and his was get to the lodging-house turn him seek the lodging-house tur

THE BRIEF BAG.

igs' lung, unfit for the food of mine premises of Carl Hetzel, a san asset objected to the suggestion that the san ages. £10 and costs, all the san he were

THE FREE TRADE HARMONY DINNER-WILL IT END LIKE THIS?

A full-dress dinner of free-traders is to be given by Lord Wimborne. Among the guests will be the Duke of Devonshire, Lord Rosebery, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Lord Spencer, Mr. John Morley, etc.]

MUSICAL PRODIGY.

JAN. 22, 1904.

Who Composed a Brilliant Work at 10 Years.

an girl pianist of seventeen has had a

POCKET EXPLOSIONS.

Yes, I use them myself," ced a box of tabloids, and with leavoured vainly to produce a ontinued, "combined with other tem an explosive, but the chances of contact with the particular combined with the particular combined with the particular combined with the particular combined with the potables which it was probably the sulbass which it was probably the sulbass which it was probably the potable caused united with the potable data with the potable caused the disaster."

Worths of Cozenges with "Extern" I think such a course the public quite unnecessarily and shy of a drug useful and in itself

CLIENTS AS TEMPTERS.

How the Law Clerk is Lured to "Pass the Rosy."

Solicitors' clerks, like Solomon Pell in Pickwick, have a habit of talking over cases with clients in the bars near the Law Courts, and this, in the opinion of the Lord Chief Justice and other Judges, is the secret of their acquiring habits of intemperance.

The legal luminaries mentioned as officers of the Legal Temperance Society have drawn up an appeal to solicitors asking them to call the attention of their clerks to the society, and especially to the appointment of a paid agent whose duty will be to act as a "fired and adviser."

Mr. Archibald, chairman of the committee, gave a Daily Mirror representative a few particulars as to the agent's duty.

"He will have nothing to do but look after the clerks, and try if his persuasion will stop them going out to drink with clients. There are great facilities round the Law Courts for drinking—some fifty or sixty licensed houses.

"The man we choose as agent will have to be very tactful; if possible, he must have been a solicitor's clerk himself; then he will understand them better. He will go about among the clerks and do all in his power to dissuade them from associations which may lead to drink."

The agent, indeed, would be a "missioner." The one difficulty is his pay, and until this little detail is settled the solicitor's clerk will be able, unwatched and unaccosted, to quaff the cup that inebriates with the friendly client.

LORD ROWTON'S WILL.

What is to be Done With the Beaconsfield Documents.

Probate has been granted of the will of the late

Probate has been granted of the will of the late Lord Rowton, for many years Lord Beaconsfield's private secretary, to whom the statesman bequeathed the whole of his letters and documents, leaving it to Lord Rowton's absolute discretion to destroy or publish them.

Captain Noel Corry, D.S.O., and Mr. Henry Manisty, Lord Rowton's executors; are requested to ask Mr. Arthur F. Scanes, the secretary of the Westinghouse Electric Company, to set in order his papers and manuscripts and "to select and set apart such of them as in his opinion ought to go with the papers of Lord Beaconsfield, which he has arranged for me. If he will undertake this duty I bequeath to him the sum of £250."

The discretion as to which, if any, of the Beaconsfield papers shall be published rests with Lord Rothachild and Sir Philip Rose, Lord Beaconsfield's executors, so no mention is made of it in the will.

will.

Mr. Scanes, it is expected, will undertake the work of setting apart such of Lord Rowton's papers as should go with those of the great statesman. Mr. Scanes has been carefully through all the Beaconsfield papers and has a unique knowledge of their contents.

Subject to a great number of personal bequests to relatives and others, and legacies to servants, the testator left his residuary estate to Captain Noel A. L. Corry, the executor (his nephew). The value of the property is entered at £183,612, including net personalty, £103,960.

POOR MEN'S MOTORS.

Great Reduction of Price Foreshadowed This Year.

Usually trade exhibitions are caviare to the general public, but the exhibition of the Society of Motor Manufacturers, to be held at the Crystal Palace from February 12 to February 24, will be an exception to the rule. The 300 automobile manufacturers who will be represented have put forth their greatest efforts to make the show original, novel, and even startling. Manufacturers this year anticipate a record demand for automobiles of every description. Firms that have never before been known to make a cheap car will this year place upon the market inexpensive light vehicles. The Daimler Co., for instance, have never sold a car under £500, but at the Crystal Palace they will ask £300 for a four-seat automobile.

Olive Green the Colour.

Steam cars are voted a failure by motor manufacturers. A novelty, therefore, will be a Gardner-Serpollet light automobile, "the only light car that has lived." Novel, too, is the Spyker Dutch car, which "drives" on all four wheels, and is claimed to have abolished side-slip. In the past automobiles have chiefly been built "open." The fashion for 1904 decrees that cars shall be closed in, with large glass protectors. The correct colour scheme must be an olive green.

The most silent of automobiles, the Bollée, will give exhibition tours in the grounds, motor-boats will be navigated on the lakes, and a motor "caravan-rest," built to supplant offee-stalls in our streets, will show how poor people ere long may be supplied with comfortable meals early in the morning.

be supplied with consistency of the least interesting feature will be the sections devoted to light delivery vans with a carrying power up to two tons, farm motors, and ploughing and reaping machines.

Finally there is a patent tube that cannot be punctured.

LATEST LADIES' CLUB.

Women's clubs are rather a drug in the market just now, but the latest, the Arachne Club, formally opened yesterday by Lady Lockyer, justifies its existence by its originality.

To begin with, it has chosen to locate itself in Bloomsbury (at 60, Russell-square) rather than in "Pettica-lane," the latest pseudonym for Doverstreet. The vexed question of service has been ingeniously settled. The whole of the working staff will be composed of ladies, some of them experts in all that pertains to a perfect domesticity, others pupils anxious to learn housewifery under such practical management. The club expects more particularly to cater for the wants of the woman who works, and it engages to provide "perfect comfort without laxury." The reception rooms are large and solidly comfortable. There are bedrooms for residential members and spare rooms for occasional birds-of-passage.

The annual subscription is only £1 is., and the entrance fee will be £2 2s.

LIGHTNING TRAINS.

Electricity Will Soon Reform Great Eastern Suburban Traffic.

And I will abolish utterly smoke and confusion,
On roaring will set my feet;
On the walling whistle of engines, the tunnelled shricking,
The groaning labour of steam smooth, electrical ease,
I will make me a city of smooth, electrical ease,
With room in your streets for the soul.

Thus writes Mr. Stephen Phillips, and the prophecies of the poet are already being fulfilled.
The electric tram has arrived; the electric train is coming; and the electric flying machine may not be far off.

We have every reason to believe that the Great Eastern directors, who. the last half-year had an increase of .51 per cent. in working expenses and a decrease of .212,000 in passenger receipts, have decided to adopt electricity in place of steam on a large portion of their suburban system; they are thus following the example of the North-Eastern, Lancashire and Yorkshire, Great-Western, District and Metropolitan Railways, which are now busy with electrification.

The Great Eastern Railway thought to avoid the cost of electrifying their system by adopting "decapods"— huge ten-wheelers, which get up a speed of thirty miles an hour in thirty seconds, and haul longer trains than the present fastest suburban engines.

Only one "decapod" has been built, and she tracks. To keep their heads above water the company has only one remedy—electrification.

The problem of how best to deal with the rapidly increasing suburban traffic is one that is now puzzling every railway company, and the Great Eastern is the one it concerns most. No fewer than 180,000 persons daily surge in and out of Liverpool-street Station; 143,000,000 passengers of all classes are carried annually, and of this enormous number 111,000,000 travel on the suburban lines, comprised within a 20-mile radius of London, from Broxbourne on the one side to Brentwood on the other.

Broxbourne on the one side to Brentwood on the other.

It is the proud boast of the company that on no other railway are passengers so punctually carried, in spite of the fact that on no line are there so many difficulties to be overcome.

To Mr. James Holden, locomotive superintendent, is due the credit of two successful innovations—the construction of powerful engines of rapid acceleration, and the widening of the carriages.

Mr. Holden recently estimated the cost of the electrification of the suburban G.E.R. system, at one million sterling, and it is now certain that the reduction in cost of working by electricity will be sufficient to meet the interest upon the capital outlay.

All the other lines which run into the metropolis are "considering" the pros and cons of electrification.

AMUSEMENTS.

HAYMARKET.

JOSEPH ENTANGLED.
BY Henry Arthur Jones.
Preceded at 8.20 by THE WIDOW WOOS.
MATIREE EVERY WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY, 2.30.

HIS MAJESTY'S. MR. TREE TO-NIGHT and EVERY EVENING, at 8.15. THE DARLING OF THE GODS.

By David Belasco and John Luther Long.

MATINEE EVERY WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY, 2.15. Box Office (Mr. Watts) open daily, 10 to 10.

MPERIAL THEATRE. MR. LEWIS WALLER.
MONSIEUR BEAUCAIRE.

LAST WEEKS.
TO-NIGHT and EVERY EVENING at 3.30.
MATINEE EVERY WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY, 2.30.
Box Office 10 to 10.

ST. JAMES'S. MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER WIll REAPPEAR on MONDAY EVENING Next, 25th, In OLD HEIDELBERG.
Box Office now open.

OLD HEIDELBERG. MONDAY NEXT.

REAPPEARANCE of Mr. GEORGE ALEXANDER and the St. James's Company, including Mestars. J. D.
Beverides, E. Lyrila Reynolds, Ensele
Frances Wetherall, and Miss Lilian Braithwaite.

OLD HEIDELBERG. MATINEES.

WEDNESDAY NEXT, January 27, and Every following WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY, at 2.15.
Box Office now oben. ST. JAMES'S.

PERSONAL.

SILVER AND JEWELS bought for cash.—Catchpole ar Williams, 510, Oxford-street, London, W., are prepare to purchase second-hand plate and jewels to any amoun Articles sent from the country receive immediate atte tion.

WANTED, yearly volumes of the "Weekly Dispatch from 1801 to 1886; also for 1869-70-71, and 1881. Send particulars to "M.," "Daily Miror" Office, Tempelite-street, E.G. "Empelite-street, E.G. "Empelite-street, E.G. "In the property of the property

HINDE'S HAIR BIND, 6d. Essential new style coiffur

TNEXPENSIVE FUMIGATED OAK

FURNITURE, in the Modern Style, for BEDROOM and DINING-ROOM.

One of the Largest Stocks in Lond NEW CATALOGUE JUST ISSUED.

WILLIAM SPRIGGS and CO. (Ltd.),

238, 239, 240, 241, TOTTENHAM COURT-ROAD, W.

INTELLIGENCE.

Are you requiring intelligence or information rega-any of the following subjects?

Travel, Law (Probate, etc.),
Business, Arts and Crafts,
Household Management, Estate Managen
Engineering (Motors, etc.), Literature, Trade, Politics (Piscal, etc.),
Science. Sport, and many others.

LONDON and FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE

BUREAU, Army and Navy Mansions, 109, VICTORIA-STREET, LONDON, S.W.

HINDE'S WAVERS. HINDE'S WAVERS.

PUNCH on the "KINK." PUNCH on the "KINK."

"Punch" asks: Why is Marconi like Hinde's?
Because both produce wavers in the (h)air.
"Punch" Office, 40, Bouverie-street

PUNCH on the "KINK." PUNCH on the "KINK."

For the Attractive "Kink" get HINDE'S WAVERS. Nos. 11, 14, 18, 21.

H!NDE'S WAVERS. HINDE'S WAVERS.

BIRTHS.

BARNES.—On the 19th inst., at 11, Chesham-street, S.W., the write of Arthur G. Barnes, of a daughter.
CLAYTON.—On the 8th inst., at 60, Kenikovich Chester.
ROWE.—On Jan. 17, at "Woodbing," Deal, the wife of Paymaster C. H. Rowe, H.A.S. King Affred, of a son.
TALBOT-PONSONEV.—On Jan. 19, at Salisbury, the wife of Captain E. F. Talbot-Ponnonly, Royal Artillery, of a

of Captain E. F. Farmer and Captain E. F. Farmer and Captain E. F. Farmer and Captain WILBY.—On Jan. 18, at Woodcombe, West Byffeet, the Wilson of W. J. Wilby, of a daughter, wife of W. J. Wilby, of a daughter. WINTERTON.—On Jan. 16, at Solihull, Warwickshire, the wife of H. R. Winterton, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

COTTRELL-PROOME—On the 19th inst., at St. Law-rence's Church, Hungerford, Berks, by the Rev. H. A. Sealy, vicar of the parish, William Richard Thomas, elder son of the late W. C. Cettrell, of The First, Hun-college House, Hungerford, adapter of Mrs. Frome, FINCH—THOMAS—On Jau. 29, at the Brompton Orators, by the Rev. Sebastian Bowken, James Finch, to Amy Louise (Louie), younger daughter of the late Francis B. Thomas.

DEATHS.

CAVE.—On Jan. 16, at 38, Beaufort-street, Chelsea, Ann, widow of the late Francois N. G. Cavé, aged 88. CORY.—On Jan. 19, at 8. Elliott-terrace, Plymouth, Richard Cory, Esp., J.P., of Langdon Court, Devon, aged 81. R.I.P.

R.I.F. On Jan. 19, at Knotty Cross, Gateacre, Liverpool. J. ne Kewley, widow of the late Canon Kewley, Report of the Late Canon Kewley, Re-McCoAN.—On Jan. 18, at 42. Campleabilli—pare A. Augusta Janct, widow of the late James Carille McCoan, J.F.

TULLOCH.—On the 18th inst., at Torquay, very anddenly, Arabella, wife of Major-General Sir Alexander Tulloch, K.C.B., C.M.G.

NOTICES TO READERS.

The Editorial, Advertising, and General Busines Micros of the Daily Mirror are:—

2, CARMELITE-STREET,
LONDON, E.C.

TELEPHONES: 1310 and 1319 Holborns.
The West End Offices of the Daily Mirror are:—
45 Now N. MED BOND-STREET, LONDON, W.
TELEPHONES: 1866 Gerard.
TELEPHONES: "Refexed," London.
Panis Directical 25, Rue Tailbout.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily Mirror is sent direct by post to any part of the United Kingdom at the rate of 1 Jd. a day (which in-blue the base), payable in advance; or it is sent for the constant of the control of the c emittances should be crossed "Barclay and Co., made payable to the Manager. Daily Mirror.

The Daily Mirror.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 22, 1904.

TO-DAY'S REFLECTIONS.

The Least We Can Expect.

There is so much to dispute in the evidence given by Mr. Alderman Crosby before the London Traffic Commission yesterday that one is in doubt where to begin. Let us, however, try to summarise his contentions under four principal heads. He de

(1) That the City was the heart of

London;
(2) That it was in the City that the traffic problem was most serious;

(3) That tramways increased traffic

(4) That the construction of tube railways and the altering of the omnibus routes should be left to private enter-

Now, to each of these expressions opinion most people who know London will, we imagine, offer a direct negative. If any spot can be called the heart of London, it is not the City, but Charing Cross where, as Dr. Johnson said, the tide of human life is in full flow. If there is any part of the metropolis where the "worst of all worst worsts" in the matter of traffic delays can be located, it is surely the West End, or, at any rate, the Strand. Look at Piccadilly any afternoon during May or June. There is a solid block of omnibuses, carriages, and cabs from Hyde Park-corner to St. James's-street. Look at the Strand almost any day in the year east and west of Wellington-street. Traffic in the City never gets so congested as this.

Next as to the delusion which Mr. Crosby shares with so many other people, that tramways increase instead of relieve the What happens when you have swift electric cars running every few moments? The number of cabs decreases at once. In many foreign towns, such as Turin, for example, the streets are exceedingly narrow, yet there is no congestion, for the tramways do all the carrying of people that is wanted. As soon as electric cars, small and convenient and sightly, are introduced into London's thoroughfares, the traffic problem will cease to exist.

Finally, it cannot be too often pointed out that private enterprise has failed hopelessly to cope with the task of conveying London's millions into and out of and about their huge city. If it had not failed there would be no need for a Traffic Commission. Private enterprise gives us nothing better in our streets than the mediæval form of slow torture which is suffered by those who have to travel in an omnibus. Until lately private enterprise had nothing better to offer us below ground than the dilatory, dirty, sulphurous Metropolitan and Dis-

It may be that the money for connecting links will still be provided, and the work actually carried out by individuals, and not by a public body. But it is very clear that there must be supervision by a public body of the whole scheme of inter-communication, and this is the very least we expect the Commission to recommend in some easily-to-be-adopted form.

PEEPS INTO THE FUTURE.

AMUSING AFTERNOON WITH FASHIONABLE PROPHETESSES IN PARIS.

The afternoon was grimly grey, and rain was drizzling down, so that a round of visits to renders of the veil and peerers into the dim vistas of futurity seemed a very good way of killing time till dinner, and some ten minutes after I had made up my mind to take the plunge into a future life I was in Madame X.'s ante-room, in a smart entresol within a stone's throw of the Arc de Triomphe.

A little table covered with a scarlet cloth. On this is one well-shaded lamp, so brilliant and so well shaded that while the scarlet cloth is lighted as a billiard-table might be, the rest of the room appears to be mysteriously in darkness. Upon the table a small velvet cushion—scarlet also—and two large magnifying glasses.

"Am I to tell you everything?" the sorceress asks me. "Death, accidents, unpleasant things as well as pleasant?"

"Certainly."

Certainly."

You're an exception. I find that gentlemen are usually more nervous about this than ladies. Please put your left hand, palm upwards, on the cushion, and place the right beside it."

A Bad Shot.

A silence. "How old are you?"
"Thirty-six."
"You'll live to eighty-two. Your line of life is excellent. Your heart beats regularly, but you are a rheumatic subject."
"Not yet."
"Your married life is beauty."

but you are a rheumatic subject."
"Your married life is happy. Your wife is gentle and confiding, and your four children bright, intelligent, and healthy."
I keep a solenn silence, and refrain from mentioning the fact that I am a bachelor.
"In business matters you have been, and will be, exceedingly successful." (She has spotted the black pearl pin Aunt Mary gave me on my birthday.) "You are not clever, but you will succeed in spite of that, for luck is with you. You have no musical or literary tastes, but have a natural knack for drawing. I see love trouble looming near at hand. A fair woman, with a jealous husband."
"But my wife.——?"
"Will know nothing, and would not care if she did. My charge is twenty francs."

What the Coffee Tells.

What the Coffee Tells.

I felt, as I drove off across the river to a prophetess who found the future in coffee grounds, that I had had my money's worth from Number One. Prophetess Number Two was young, dark, and distinctly pretty.

"Place your two hands together on the table," said the prophetess. She took a coffee pot from a small cupboard, and poured the contents on to the oil-cloth, where the grounds made little islands in small rivulets of coffee. Here I sat close beside, instead of opposite, the prophetess, her left hand lightly poised upon my wrists, and in her right an ivory pointer, with which she helps the coffee grounds to prophesy.

Without her help I don't think I should have seen initials in them, but she does, and before I pay my ten-franc piece, and take my leave (the future doesn't cost as much upon the left bank of the river), I have been told that I am a musician, and that my career will pass through a crisis at the age of forty-two, when I shall acquire great honours and a little money. I am an open-minded and a gentle creature, without a sense of business. I am to be careful not to give a signature in three years' time; if I do, it may ruin me. I have three children, but my wife is dead, and I shall live till seventy-six.

"Love affairs?"

"Four—of importance. Several smaller ones."

At that I think it's time to go.

At that I think it's time to go.

Twenty Francs More.

Twenty Francs More.

It's half-past six, and I have only a few minutes for the third prophetess, who practices with cards.

"The grand jeu, or the small one?" says Madame, who is a gaunt woman, with an eye so hungry that I choose the grand jeu with the utmost promptitude.

The cards are big squares, with mysterious geometric figures on them, and in five minutes (I fancy that my prophetess is anxious for her own dinner, which I can smell in preparation) I learn that in a year I shall throw up my present position in a bankinghouse, and go to America with a dark woman, leaving my auburn-haired wife and one small child in poverty in Paris. Learning, however, that I am to make a fortune in le Klondyke, and to become a trust king, I pay down my twenty francs, and go to dinner, before worse befalls me. Tve had a very busy afternoon. I have had three wives, and to begin with, four children. I lost one of these in the Latin Quarter, and two more on the latin Quarter, and two more on the my return to the Right Bank, for I forget to say that the card prophetess lived not far from the Opéra. I am to die three times—at eighty-two, at seventy-six, and "young"—the card lady told me that to g't young"—the card lady told me that to g't roung in the complex of the positive, and that is that I am at present very hungry!

BREAKFAST TABLE TALK

This is the third anniversary of the accion to the throne of his Majesty Edward VII. Long may he reign!

"If I had to decide," says "Truth, between the rival charms of a bevy of mobile beauties, I think an American girl work by take the apple." Probably take the apple." Probably take the award?

According to a motoring journal, by which is an efficient generator of power motor-cars, "has a much pleasanter than petrol." We can hardly believe than petrol." We can hardly believe it is possible, but we live and learn.

The Emperor of Japan is not called Mikado nowadays, the term, we are told so obsolete. It signifies the "honourable and still seems to us to be appropriate endor" in Manchuria.

Canada banin.

Canada having cut all known records with temperature of —48 degrees. New York Self has promptly gone 4 degrees better, of degrees of frost. This form of retainable already resulted in the freezing out of a number of industries.

An instrument now in use at the the chusett's Hospital is said to enable the law wearer to observe the slightest change in a carrier of some form the slightest change in heart of some content of some content to the slightest change in heart of some content that is the chief object of our concern.

There is a cab and carriage drivers at St. Louis and the Chief of Police dered his men to shoot any person meleres with the drivers of hearses or the coaches at funerals. Funerals, at the coaches at funerals, are milkely to increase by geometrical gression in St. Louis.

Colombian troops are said to be in their way towards Panama, in order in a rising against the newly-proclaim public. The rising, however, will all the root in Panama, but in Colombian plett The astuteness of the Panama plett arranging to have their civil war in discountry is highly to be commended.

THE NEW BOY.

Manners should be the toundation of all electricity of all book-learning and commission of a c

Oh, little boys, no longer seek To stupefy your minds with Grey But write upon your banners. When Xenophon is cast away day And Euclid, too, has had his The simple motto, "Manners"

To notice how you stuff at tea,
And jam your little fingers;
In you an all too patent trace
Of our ancestral savage race
Indisputably lingers.

What matters it that you should kee
The subtleties of b, b, 70
If you can act discreetly?
The seed give you no concern
Nor yet the "Pons," if you can
To eat a muffin neatly.

Remember, "manager maketh man"

Remember, "manners makyth man,"
And glean, as early as you can,
A suitable assortment.
To frowst o'er classics is a crime, institution of the control of the

The "Westminster Gazette" is a shocked because in a circular advertis annual dinner of the Commercial of Benevolent Institution the names at Dukes follow instead of precede far Chamberlain. Our contemporary Chamberlain. Our contemporary is to be a contemporary of the contemporary of th to think about it.

Touching upon Mr. Chamberlain's ance of a Harris tweed coat from a admirer, the "Tailor and Cutter" rolers, admirer, the "Tailor and Cutter" of the most cutting manner, to astrakhan " which the great field wears upon another of his coats be found a man with a policy has to and clays! Why does not the "Tailor affect introduce a breed of cuty-fleeced this country, and make us independent Persian lamb?

Certain Welsh Boards of Guardings decided to drop the ugly word "work" except in official documents, where he sisted on by the Local Golse, and the The Pontypridd Board calls, and diff Board proposed that its should be called the "Ely Res," in derstand that the casual ward, the called the "guest-house, the called the "guest-house," the picking department the green while the thin fluid hitherton while the thin fluid hitherton will be "gruel" will be re-christened by "gruel" will be re-christened of "turtle-soup." We hope the inpuse.

Forecast of th

JAN 22, 1904.

RAILWAY PUZZLE.

telsion Affecting the Right 1 a Journey.

dedice which, while of great im speaking speakin lions. general regulations says

t instance a break is no

BAROMETER RISI

AKFAST TABLE TALK

the third anniversary of the acres he throne of his Majesty II. Long may he reign!

ad to decide," says "Truth" by rival charms of a boyy of mode! I think an American girl what take the apple." Probably, wait for the award?

an efficient generator of poref, s, "has a much pleasantr of policy" we can hardly ble, but we live and learn.

nperor of Japan is not called by wadays, the term, we are told be rems to use to the wadays, the term, we are told be rems to us to be appropriate earns to us to be appropriate on arch who is pressing for the work.

having cut all known record; with the first control of the first control should be the toundation of all touch to the toundation of all touch to the toundation of all touch to the touch touch to the touch touch to the touch to the tou little boys, no longer seek stupefy your minds with Gree it write upon your banners n Xenophon is cast away Euclid, too, has had his e simple motto, "Manners"

a painful thing to me notice how you stuff at ea, and jam your little fingers; ou an all too patent trace our ancestral savage race disputably lingers.

disputably lingers.

it matters it that you should know, subtleties of 5, 8, 70, you can act discreetly w need give you no concept, yet the "Pons," if you can learn o eat a muffin neatly.

nember, "manners makyth man, I glean, as early as you can, suitable assortment, frows to fer classics is a crime, yours instead to spend your list studying deportment.

"Westminster Gazette" is the because in a circular advertise dinner of the Commercial Toy lent Institution the names of solution of the commercial Toy of hing upon Mr. Chamberlains f a Harris tweed coat from f, the "Tailor and Cutter performent, the "Tailor and Cutter performent, an" which the great fiscal flow ipon another of his coats nan with a policy has to allow Why does not the "Tailor and to ice a breed of curly-fleeced antry, and make us independent i lamb?

on by the source of the work price of the "Rhondda Homes" and proposed that its be called the "Ely Ret", it that the casual ward will led the "guest-house, g department the "recreating department the "recreating the thin fluid hitherto kn" sa "skilly" and to the "will be re-christened by "will be re-christened the "will be re-christened" will be re-christened the "will be re-christened the "will be re-christened" will be re-christened the "will be re-christened the "will be re-christened the "will be re-christened the "will be re-christened" will be re-christened the "will be re-christened the "will be re-christened the "will be re-christened" will be re-christened the "will be re-christ

STOCK BROKERS DISCUSS THE USES OF ADVERTISEMENT.

Porecast of the Tempting Offers That Will be Displayed When the Proposed

RAILWAY PUZZLE.

JAN 22, 1904.

MAILWAY PUBLISHED Affecting the Right to Break

sision which, while of great importance to incompare, is a puzzle to the railway by Registers delivered at Chorley County and passengers, who had booked from Mandold Chorley, broke her journey at Bolton, BOOM IN CONSOLS.

either a single journey or a ramitted to leave any train at an m the journey without giving up ing all further right to it unless e a break in the journey is suarted, is penalty can only be susny when the passenger has to defraud,

however, such as the conr from one station to another,
d by the terms of that con-

BAROMETER RISING.

of markets, when readers may of the previous day's form, it and the markets were good yeson the day before. All the mal trouble were laughed at, 'read favourably. Almost from cre was improvement, and the lag.

freat outburst of activity in Home feature about it was that some o set stock Exchange from the South was the stock Exchange from the South was their serving too freely. The test their sections, and would be the state of the s to like the 4 per cent a and the Tilbury dis two we have had to report Berlin Berlin turned round so far as and a great deal was made of Rails being advanced. Another the Illinois Central, helped the Sandwichmen Dealers in Gilt-edged Securities-Some Specimen Advertisements Given Gratuitously to Members of the "House"-A Means of Competing with the Obstreperous Bucket Shop.

The suggestion that stockbrokers should be permitted to advertise has been made by Mr. Alexander H. Leigh. One of the reasons why the proposition is put forward is that there is very little business doing in the City. People nowadays exhibit no feverish anxiety to gamble in stocks and bonds. They might do so if their attention were called to the matter by ruinous "sacrifice sales" and other devices now employed by drapers.

"I think it would be a very good idea to permit us to advertise," said a well-known stockbroker, yesterday. "I do not think that at first the public would take kindly to the appearance of sandwichmen in the West End, giving out circulars inviting people to buy "Kaffirs," but there is no reason why we should not be permitted to insert cards with our names and addresses in reputable publications."

LONDON & NORTH-WESTERN STOCK.

And should you be furnishing, and in throst of hesitation as to a suitable pattern for tions."

"There are lots of people who go about buying houses and land who might be diverted into the Stock Exchange if the advantages of that institution were deftly presented to them."

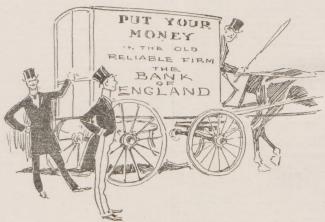

The suggestion is made that if stockbrokers advertised they would be able to compete more effectually with the "bucket shops," which are not prevented by any ethies from announcing their business methods.

In America stockbrokers advertise. They wildly clamour for business, offering a full line of United

And should you be furnishing, and in the throes of hesitation as to a suitable pattern for your wall-paper, the ensuing is sure to calm the agitated surface of your mind:—

No home should be without A supply of our cheap KAFFIR STOCKS.

And if you are undecided whether to entrust you capital or sayings to any one or other of the joint

DRUMMING UP BUSINESS FOR THE OLD LADY OF THREADNEEDLE STREET.

States bonds at a sacrifice—bankrupt assortments of shipping trust stock, and that sort of thing. They employ "drummers" on commission, who pervade society, and induce people to speculate. This last method is not unknown in London.

Appended are a few suggestions for advertisements of financial houses. The advertisements are not copyright, and may be published without payment of royalty by any members of the Stock Exchange to whom they appeal:—

Depositors treated with politeness and

Should you require a loan on easy terms against securities of worth and standing the fol-owing is sure to strike the eye:—

Borrow money from the old reliable firm of ROTHSCHILDS.

No connection with any other house.

The next article, although it possibly may wear better, is not guaranteed to be free from arsenic:-

Clearance Sale

LONDON AND EARTH BONDS.

And there is quite an old familiar ring about

If you can't drink Guinness Buy them for a rise.

And if a staple article of commerce is your quest, here is the very thing: -

Depositors treated with politeness and liberality.

Our next should appeal with special force to readers of the "Daily News," "The British Weekly," and similar tracts:—

TO TEETOTALERS.

Buy and sell cotton through CHUMP & CO.

Any quantity from a reel to a bale.

BIG BAG OF CAMELS.

Major Kenna surprised some of the Mullah's men in the vicinity of Eilinaade on the morning of the 17th. Fifty of the enemy's spearmen (says Reuter) of the 17th.

Fifty of the enemy's spearmen (says Reuter) were killed, and three thousand camels and several thousand sheep captured.

General Egerton has telegraphed the thanks of the Sonaliland Field Force for the King's gracious message to them. The wounded are doing well, Major Bridges and Captain Shakerley extremely so.

YOUTHFUL "RETALIATOR."

The youth of Buda-Pesth are well known for precocity.

A twelve-year-old boy the other day received castigation from his father for some wanton act of mischief.

Learning that it was his little brother who had told tales of him, he resolved to retaliate. He, therefore, rose in the night and put out the little fellow's eyes.

REVISING BARRISTERS "FIRED."

Revising barristers who have acted for a period for at least ten years are not to have their appointments renewed.

Like licensed victuallers they are appointed year by year by the Session Judges, if their behaviour has been satisfactory.

Now that the whole Bench of Judges have decided on this ten years' "guildotine," which was triginally suggested by the late Lord Chief Justice, here is a considerable flutter in the Revising dove-tot.

A question in the House is threatened if the Judges do not relent.

KETTERING IN ERUPTION.

In one of the main streets of Kettering there was a repetition of the Piccadilly explosion yesterday.

A heavy manhole cover was hurled across the road, paving stones were displaced, a sheet of flame shot up, and the glass in a shop window was shattered. Fortunately for the numerous spectators, nobody was burt.

FOR FINDING MISS HICKMAN.

£200 Allotted to The Discoverers of the Body.

Mr. Conrad W. Thies, secretary to the Royal Free Hospital, writes:—

"I am desired to state that the £100 reward offered by Mr. Hickman and the £100 offered by the board of this hospital, for the discovery of the late Miss S. F. Hickman, have now been paid.

"The money has been applied as follows, viz., £5 paid to H. W. Mackinney (who first gave information to the police), £5 to Thomas Mackinney (father of the boy who found the body) for clothing and necessaries, and £190 to the mayor and vicar of Richmond, who have kindly undertaken to act as trustees, to be invested in Government stock; in trust, as to £90 for the boy Mackinney, and £20 each for Fennell and Watkins, the two boys who were with Mackinney in the plantation.
"The interest of these sums is to be applied for the benefit of the boys until they attain the age of twenty-one, and the principal then to be paid to them.

"The trustees are authorised, at their sole dis-

Iwenty-one, and the principal then to be paid to them.

"The trustees are authorised, at their sole discretion, to apply all or any part of the principal sums for the instruction, apprenticeship, or advancement in life of the boys during their minority. The boys' parents quite approve of the above arrangement, which has been put in proper form and signed.

"I may add that the members of the committee of this hospital are making special contributions to the hospital funds, to replace the £100 which has been paid therefrom as above mentioned."

Miss Gertrude Williams has been missing since the 8th inst. from Ovington-street, Sloane-square. She is twenty years of age. She has golden bair, and her height is 5tf. 6in. When she went such that was wearing a navy blue dress with pleated kirt, a pale blue flammel blouse with white spots, a bolero with red piping trimmings, and brown stockings.

TRAIN ROBBERS.

American Express Held Up and Treasure Stolen.

A daring example of that typically American reme, train-robbing, is reported by Reuter. A gang of train robbers has succeeded in stealing an iron safe from an express car on the north-bound "Sunset Limited," on the Southern Pacific Sailway, near San Luis Obispo.

The thieves secured treasure from the stolen strong box to the amount, according to some accounts, of £14,000.

An express messenger, who had been working in the front of the express car, went to the rear of the train, and was astounded at finding that a safe had been wrenched from the second express car, to which it was secured by heavy steel bars.

THE SANDWICHMAN WAY OF DISPOSING OF GILT-EDGED SECURITIES.

The robbers had stopped the train by showing a red light, and when it came to a standstill the gang boarded it and overpowered the train men, when the train reached San Francisco detectives we cent to the scene of the robbery.

SHIP SUNK OFF DUNGENESS.

The schooner Lady Neaves anchored yesterday in the Downs and put ashore a sailor who had been picked up clinging to some wreckage. Margaret Jane, the schooner to which he belonged, was sunk in a collision with a steamship. The captain and a sailor escaped by leaping on board the surviving vessel, but the mate is missing.

JAN. 22, 190-

ackenschm

RE RING'S YE

ctions for the Lings

Which Begins T

rs-filly by Qu

FOOTBALL.

HOCKEY.

New Stories Mainly About Citled People.

QUEEN VICTORIA AS A PASSPORT TO A PALACE — LADY BURRELL'S WONDERFUL FURS — THE VALUE OF MR. CYRIL MAUDE'S RAZOR-THE LITTLE BROWN BIRD.

Emily Lady Ampthill, who has returned to Ampthill Park, has lived her life in the atmosphere of a Court. She was Lady Emily Villiers, and a sister to Lord Clarendon and to Lady Derby. As a girl she acted as one of Queen Alexandra's bridesmaids, and for many years held the post of Bedchamber Woman to the late Queen Victoria. In those days a remarkable adventure befell her. She had been summoned to dine with her royal mistress at Buckingham Palace. Late in the evening her coachman was taken ill and could not drive the carriage. Livery stables were applied to without success, and the Court lady had to drive off in a humble four-wheeled cab. It was a desperately wet and muddy night, and when she sarrived at the Palace gates a sturdy policeman stopped her cab, and refused to allow it to pass the sacred portals, cabs not being permitted to enter the courtyard of Buckingham Palace. She pleaded and protested, but the trustworthy guardian proved inflexible. At last a happy thought struck her; she showed the man in blue a jewelled bracelet containing the portrait of Queen Victoria. This set his mind at rest, and he allowed the cab to drive to the door.

To-day at Frogmore the third anniversary of Queen Victoria's death will be observed. The King and Queen are going to the mausoleum about noon, and most of the other members of the Royal Family will be present. The Archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by the Dean of Windsor, will conduct the service, and the anthem, especially-chosen by the King, will be sung by the choir of St. George's Chapel. Many beautiful wreaths have been sent great request, as the beautiful statue, which is world-famous, has covered to mothers' in the cluster of the Saviour in the cluster. The condition of the proposed provided the post of the celebrated figure of the Saviour in the cluster of the Saviour in the cluster of the celebrated figure of the Saviour in the cluster of the Saviour in the cluster of the Saviour in the cluster of the saviour of the celebrated figure of the Saviour in the cluster

If you were the Bridge Editor,

WHAT REPLY WOULD YOU SEND TO THE LETTER QUOTED BELOW?

FOR THE BEST ANSWER SENT IN (NOT EXCEEDING ONE HUNDRED WORDS),

WE SHALL AWARD £20 IN CASH. There will also be Given Away as Consolation Prizes Ten Handsome Silver-mounted Bridge Boxes, each of the Value of One Guinea.

> WEEKLY COMPETITION G .- COUPON A.

3 · 3 · 3 · 3 · 3 · 3 · 3

first attempts.

The problem is not difficult, but it has the merit of having only one solution, and that without any variations.

watch her movements constantly throughout the day, and always fly after the carriage whenever she drove out. The tiny creature showed a devo-tion for her which equalled that of a dog for his nistress. The sad part of the story is that I cannot say how it ended. Mrs. A. left Florence after a while, and at the time of departure either she lost her little favourite, or her little favourite lost her. I cannot tell which!

lost her. I cannot tell which!

* * * *

This is another curious bird story, the truth of which I can vouch. A lady living in the Albert Hall-manisons lost her pet canary, which she had set free in her room, and which had flown through the window she had neglected to close. On the following day her doctor called, and she told him her trouble. "How extraordinary!" exclaimed the doctor. "Why, a canary flew into my room through my open window yesterday evening!" And the little bird did prove to be the lost one.

* *

Rarely has the death of a veteran called forth so much universal regret among his friends as that of Sir Harry Keppel, who was yesterday buried at Winkfield. Always kind and cheery, he won the devotion of all who came in contact with him. Ever gallant, it was at a dinner not long ago, when speeches were being made, that Sir Harry was asked to toast the ladies. Rising, he began, "The Ladies," and then, laughing, he sank back into his chair. "No! I can't," he said, "I love 'em too much."

Carving Maudo's Turkey.

Carving Maude's Turkey.

Carving Maudo's Turkey.

One of the most popular of actors, Mr. Cyril Maude, has scored another success in "Joseph Entangled." He is always glad when the first night is over, for he suffers a good deal from stage fright. By nature he is very shy, and both he and his charming wife, Miss Winifred Emery, are devoted to a quiet home life, and quite happy without any society except that of their two little girls.

Mr. Maude possesses a fund of quiet humour, and most amusingly relates what he calls one of the tragedies of his life. When spending a summer at Dieppe with his family they used to invariably go out and do their own marketing, and one day he arrived home with a very fine turkey. Next morning Mr. Maude noticed a terrible notch in his razor. His thoughts flew to the children; perhaps they had used it to sharpen pencils with, but his query was received with a very disdainful negative. Then "Had Mrs. Maude cut string with it?" "Of course not," and then his thoughts flew to the turkey. Marie had slain the turkey with it. When interrogated, she replied: "Why, of course I did, sir"; as if the only purpose of a razor was to kill poultry.

READERS' PARLIAMENT.

SERVANTS AND TIPPING.

(To the Editor of the Daily Mirrer) first in an honest, but a very dishonest, worse because it is not admitted to be so. Therefore, it is useless to have one set of or the servants and another for the mistress.

mistress.

Servants are even sharper than we ridicule the way in which we assert that we are those with the way in which we assert that we are the way in which we assert that we are the way in which we say that we want to fact, we are the way of the way

PETTICOATS AND PROSPERIT

(To the Editor of the Daily Mirrar had attributed his prosperity and success in fit warming the success in the success of the

HOCKEY AND SELF-SACRIFICE

(To the Editor of the Daily Mirror

these cold winter mornings, to feed of harms dred children, to the ladylike habit of harms fast in bed.

THE FATHER OF TWO HOCKEY PLANT THE PLANT

SMALL BRIBES FOR BRIDEGROOMS

At 1 game and love scored by you to love

And what would you declare as Dummy, if it were left to you, holding the following the

At love scored by you to 1 game and love

At game all and love all......

INSTRUCTIONS AND RULES.

Cut out the above coupons A and B. Write your name and address in the spaces provided at foot of Coupon A. Fill in Coupon B with your replies to the questions asked; no reasons need be given. Write a criticism of the problem submitted in Coupon A, using not more than 100 words.

Enclose the whole with postal order for Is. (crossed Barclay and Co.) to the "Bridge Editor, Daily Mirror, 2, Carmelite-street, London, E.C.," in an envelope legibly marked above the address: Weekly Bridge Competition No. 6.

WEEKLY COMPETITION 6.-COUPON B.

What would you do as Dealer, holding the three following hands at the spectrum and the spec

At love scored by you to 1 game and 24.....

0000

0000 000

Hearts are trumps, and South has the lead

West.

Competitors are to write, on an ordinary sheet of notepaper, an imaginary reply to the above letter, earliesing the problem enclosed, and using not more than 100 words in all. The letter must bear the same signature as is filled in upon this Coupon.

DERS' PARLIAMENT.

ERVANTS AND TIPPING.

'o the Editor of the Daily Straw' at 1' seems to forget that we would sat, but a very distances, the same it is not admitted to get of the seems of the same at the same and t

s are even sharper than we are way in which we assert that while, as a matter of fact, and the tradesimal that the tradesimal we are the same as the same are the same as the same are the same as the same are the s and tipping are as inevitable in the factors, etc., etc., etc., as are similar honesty in the daily lives of the whole of the factors, white lies, etc., etc., etc., etc., p. Z. BELEGON, lion-parade, Briedsten.

lion-parade, Brighton.

TICOATS AND PROSPERITE.

o the Editor of the Daily Mirror.)

CKEY AND SELF-SACRIFICE

To the Editor of the Daily Mirror, or property of the United Market State o

ie Father of Two Hocket Plans

IALL BRIBES FOR BRIDEGROOMS

diminutive bribes to make the will of the late Mr. Jet and dout in the shape of .25 not old character who marry within 6.-COUPON B.

illowing hands at the speci-

under the same cover.
the replies received the Bridge and marks, according to merits as to degree of mere same sum of Twenty and Twenty and the competitors scoring the his received the competitors scoring merits and the same competitors coming merits and the same competitors coming merits and the same competitors coming merits and the same competitions are same competitions.

will each receive a Portland bed above.

i.—All solutions must be the office of the Datify by the first post on the materials by the first post on the materials by 25.

TERRIBLE TURK" AND "RUSSIAN LION" IN TRAINING.

AN UNDEFEATED PAIR.

THE KING'S YEARLINGS.

JAN. 22, 1904.

What the Lingfield Meeting Which Begins To-day.

dentioned yearlings:—
Colours—filly by Queen's Birthday—

Sily by Persimmon—Rose Madder.
Sily by Persimmon—La Carolina.
Solt by Persimmon—Cheveronny.
Solt by Nunthorpe—Azeeza.

blace at Castle Irwell under plea

Royal Cygnet to the last dd won easily compared to the day on the state of the compared to the able Bede beat a warm favourite he Castle Steeplechase, and the hated with the victory of Nether

		ase. Detai	1S:-
(4) (e. (46)	pswich Winner.	Rider.	Prices
	Winner. Jne and All	Brown Priestman	5 to 2
		Brown	160 to 1
	he Venidar	Wilson	8 to 0
ament.	he Ven'ble Bede Nether Wallop.	Walley	5 1
100	and the same of	THE R. P. LEWIS CO., LANSING, MICH.	and a second
2500	Vac O, w	ho passed t	he post
3400	Will Bridge on a	he recent I	rmina

ywin - Blindley Heath Hurdle-tt of Song; Yuletide Handicap or The Grasper; New Year's landall or Sheather; Novelty Sainfall or Main Top; Harkover ac-Adansi or Partridge; Holly was a Luck or Roseborough.

FOOTBALL.

HOCKEY.

d the visitors

the Rev. Richard Garnett, a clergy

New WORKS AS OLD.

pinned down in 9min. 3sec., an experience which also awaited him at the second meeting after 8min. 25sec. had clapsed. Madrali thus gained two consecutive falls, and won easily.

Here are some of Dubois's measurements:— Height, 6ft. 1½in.; weight, 16st. 12lb.; chest, 50in.; neck, 20in.; biceps, 17in.; thigh, 28in.;

Madrali's dimensions are: -6ft. 1in. in height; 16st. in weight; chest measurement, 48in., neck 18in., biceps 18in., thigh 30in., and calf 18½in. In the matter of age there is not much differ-

A large crowd assembled at Hengler's Circus, pesterday afternion to witness a match for the catch-as-catch-can championship between Ahmed Madrall, the "Terrible Turk," and William Dubois, the Canadian champion, for 250 a-side, and a purse of 250.

Madrall at once attacked, and though Dubois exerted all his strength and cleverness, he was recedion is concerned the "Terrible Turk" in creation is concerned the "Terrible Turk" in the new ballet at the Alhambra, in the new ballet creation is concerned the "Terrible Turk" in creation is concerned the "Terrible Turk" in the new ballet at the Alhambra, in the ne Madrali and Hackenschmidt are both in hard training for their big encounter, which is arousing an enormous amount of interest. Both men consume inordinate quantities of meat, upon which they rely chiefly for their strength. So far as recreation is concerned the "Terrible Turk" indulges in an occasional eigarette, while the "Russian Lion," who eschews tobacco in any form, perpetually solaces himself with chocolate creams. Each man is confident of winning. The Turk's partisans claim that he must win on account of his superior strength, but the Russian's followers aver that Hackenschmidt is the strongest man in the world.

The all-important struggle will be decided at

The lengthened skirt which asserts itself, for the first time at the Alhambra, in the new ballet called "All the Year Round," may, indeed, be entitled a "skirt of happy chance." The ballet received a reception that was uproarious exclusively with rapture. Even Mr. "Jimmy." Glover, of Drury-lane, who composed it appeared ("unused" as he is "to the melting mood") positively to blanch before the thunders of applause that awaited him when, with Mr. Charles Wilson, the producer, and Madame Cormani, the designer of the dances, he flitted across the curtain at the conclusion of the evening.

Flower-girls and Young Oxford.

As a matter of fact the lengthening of the skirt is only one more move in the direction of giving ballet more life and character, and taking from it something of the dreary solemnities of forgotten ballet more life and character, and taking from it something of the dreary solemnities of forgotten conventions.

And in this matter of liveliness and character one does not know of a single ballet to beat "All the Year Round." As its title suggests, its theme is, in more senses than one, all-embracing, being a procession of the months in town and country. The spectacular scenes represent the country, the others the town, and of the first mentioned it is, perhaps, only natural that one should give preference to May flowers, a perfectly enchanting blend of colour. December is more claborate and brilliant; but candle-power isn't everything, and the costumes, especially of the tall likacs—with, of course, their sun-bonnets—should find their echoes at every fancy-dress ball this winter.

For liveliness, on the other hand, the flowergirls were the heroines of the evening. They appeared at Piccadilly Circus to begin with, but later on, in sunny lune, they managed to put in an appearance even on the river bank, and disported themselves cheerily with the Oxford crew, in rowing shorts. Whether this circumstance is based upon fact is not recorded, but anyhow it affords quite the most invigorating moment of the ballet. To see these flower-girls, in their violet velvet and "pearlies" and "feveres," prance forward amid a tempest of petticoat like cavality at a canter, strred the soul more even than Mr. Glover's trumpets, which happened to be engaged in converting the "Cavalleria Rusticana" intermezzo into a cake-walk.

In short, while ballets have at once the fun and into a cake-walk. In short, while ballets have at once the fun and beauty of "All the Year Round" the unpermitted stage-play, with all its dreary dialogue, is hardly to be missed at the music-hall.

ARMS OVER THE BENCH.

Over the magisterial bench of the Westminster Police Court, a royal coat of arms hangs. It is a treasured relic of the court, and has survived the rebuilding which is just completed.

The late Mr. Partridge rescued it from obscurity, and had it put above the judicial seat.

Soda and water has slightly depreciated its mellow appearance, but the age is strictly to be relied upon. Connoisseurs regard the carving as a splendid example of flanoverian work.

FAMILY'S FORTNIGHT OF TRAGEDY.

The tenantry on the Trevelyan Estate at Nether-witton, in Northumberland, have been sorrowing over the deaths within the past fortnight of both Dr. Trevelyan, who was a county magistrate and chairman of the Morpeth Petty Sessions, and his fe.

Yesterday their grief was doubly accentuated on becoming known that Mr. Walter Raleigh revelyan, a son of Dr. Trevelyan, had been and shot. He had lately been suffering from

LIBEL REPEATS ITSELF.

The verdict of £200 damages given by a jury against the "Cork Examiner" for a libel committed under extraordinary circumstances, has been upheld by the Court of Appeal in Dublin. The facts stated in connection with the case were that an inaccuracy appeared in the report of a case against a Limerick publican. An apology was duly printed, but by the extraordinary mistake of a clerk the original report was again printed afterwards, and a second apology did not ward off an action for libel.

MYSTERIOUS SUBMARINE.

A new submarine vessel has been tested at Cher-

A new submarine vesser may be a significant of the vessel, privately constructed, with the assistance of the State, was brought into the roadstead with the utmost secrecy. The points where the submarine is above water are barely visible, and the boat will be able to travel under the sea for a very great distance. The trials (according to a Reuter telegram) were exceedingly satisfactory

PROSECUTING IN BANDAGES.

PROSECUTING IN BANDAGES.

Walter Albert, thes seaman who is accused of attacking Mr. Freeth, a clerk, in a carriage on the North London Railway, was brought up at the Worship-street Police Court yesterday.

The prosecutor appeared in court with his head thickly bandaged, and seemed very weak. On his deposition being read the defendant denied it, saying that he was the one attacked. It appears that the prisoner had recently returned from New Zealand, and inquiries concerning him are to be made of the Colonial police. He was remanded.

NEW DISEASE: PELLETAN FEVER.

M. Pelletan, the French Minister of Marine, recently said some hard things about a breakdown on the cruiesr Sully, and Captain Farret was relieved of his command.

In consequence of his dismissal, the captain has been seized with a violent attack of fever, and was removed to hospital delirious.

A WORD THAT IS BEING FORGOTTEN.

Georges Hackenschmidt, "The Russian Lion," and Ahmed Madrali, "The Terrible Turk," who will meet at Olympia on January 30 to wrestle for the world's championship.

Has England forgotten that there is such a s thrift? Mr. W. Fleming Blaine, who pre t the half-yearly meeting of the London took Bank, Ltd., yesterday, is inclined to thir

KING OSCAR'S BIRTHDAY.

King Oscar of Sweden celebrated his seventyfifth birthday yesterday. The Grand Marshal of the kingdom handed a gold medal to his Majesty on behalf of the Court officials. The municipal authorities of Stockholm presented a contribution of 201,000 towards the King's Jubilee Fund for indigent consumptive persons in Stockholm.—
Reuter,

Smart Dresses and Pretty Faces at the Play.

The yellow toilette, embroidered with gold and silver and flounced with Alencon lace, worn by Miss Illington.

Photo by]

A CHOICE OF DISHES. DINNER.

Soups.

Sago Soup. Purée of Leeks.

Fish.
Fillets of Whiting à l'Italienne.
Salmon Cutlets.
Curry Sauce.

Sirloin of Beef, with Horseradish. Turkey, with Veal Stuffing. Stewed Wild Duck. Pheasant Cutlets

wed Wild Duck. Pheasant Cutl

*Vegetable.

Potatoes à l'Hollaudaise.

Celery Fritters in Tomato Sauce.

Sweets.

Apricot Crofites. Rum Omelet,

*Savouries.

*Devonshire Crofites.

Ice. Noyeau Ice Cream.

with bunches of orange and red berries, is worn with the cloak, and with it goes a piguant white lace veil arranged in the new birdcage fashion to fall loosely over the face.

Trimmed with rounds of silk braid the same shade as the cloth it decorates is Miss Illington's green coat and skirt of the second act. The coat has a very smart satin belt and short sleeves finished with deep rulles of rich lace. It is mounted upon a blouse of the same lace decorated with white evelve bows, and is completed by a biscuit-coloured straw hat trimmed with green velvet and shaded green and white feathers.

Elegant in the extreme is a tea-gown worn by Miss Illington made of point d'Alençon embroidered with a design of roses and leaves carried out in silver tissue and grey mousseline de soie with touches of pearls. Mounted upon a foundation of pink gauze the effect of this gown is becautiful.

JAN. 22, 1904.

The Families of Men (

SIMPLE DISH.

No. 231.—DEVONSHIRE

Cost about 1s. for 12 portions.

THE DAILY TIME SAVER

PROVISIONS IN SEASON.

Smelts.

Smelts.

Smelts.

Signature of the state of the

THE DISH OF THE DAY.

No. 68.—BOMBE PRINCE PUCKLER.

By M. ANTOINE MOISY, Chef Kensington Palace Manstons Restaurant.

Whip up one pint of good cream, sweetened with vanilla, sugar, and add four ounces of powdered macaroons. Divide into three equal nortions. Grate two ounces of chocolate; dissolve this with a tablespoonful of milk, and mix it with one of the portions. In the other put half a gill of maraschino and a few drops of cochineat. Leave the third portion white, and vanilla flavour. Take a freezing mould and put the above creams in layers into it—first the red cream maraschino, then the white vanilla, and next the chocolate cream. Cover closely, and pack in ice and salt for about two hours. Immerse in cold water, wipe the mould, turn out quickly, and serve on a folded napkin.

ROMANCE OF THE BEAD CHAP

o or three years ago, when any bead chains was a sign that one lady had realished pounds by their manufacture, sway. Quite by chance and they had pounds and they had pounds and they had formed part of a part of the part of a part of a part of the part of a par

SIMPLE DISH.

No. 231.—DEVONSHIRE hard-boiled yolk of egg, cayenne Ambidishers:—One or two dispersions be move the skin and bone from some cut the flesh into neal fillers; jost he lemon juice and cayenne with early the state of the control of the contro ost about 1s. for 12 portions.

JAN. 22, 1904.

KOREAN WOMEN STILL SOLD INTO SLAVERY.

The Families of Men Convicted of Treason Become the Property of the Government and Are Divided Among High Officials.

nd the present situation.

events move in the East that the

and rapid train runs from Che-trams afford quick transit within capital; even electric lights illu-lation parts of the city. Secul-lation of the city. Secul-als distance of becoming the delarest city in the East. " Fdistance telephones, drains (un-tes of missionaries."

of missionaries.

Hamilton expresses the views
Eastern travellers:
missionary in the Far East is In Secoul one of them receives Secoul one of them receives they are necessarily newsand professional photothey appear to me to extract Ris the maximum of profit with oour. 9

ninfluence.

influence and woman is still unifluence as from the age of twelve she is from the age of twelve she is people of her household and the still a st

Way the chief occupation of the smotherhood. Much scandal lambda her twentieth year without while no better excuse exists for lity.

family of a man convicted of treason become the property of the Government, and are allotted to high officials.

There is a Korean counterpart to the Japanese geisha; but they are attached to the Government and supported from the national treasury. They appear at official dinners and palace entertainments, where they read and write, dance and sing. Like the geisha they are charming; like her their morals are more than open to suspicion.

The Real and Nominal Kings.

Mr. Hamilton gives us some interesting glimpses of Court and official life. Much has been heard, and more probably will be heard, of that able and anscruptulous minister, Yi Yongik, whose name has recently been mentioned as promoting Russian intrigues in the Korean Court. The history of this minister, who rules the Emperor with a rod of iron, is very interesting.

He is a man of low parentage, but rendered considerable services to the throne during the emeute in 1884, when he was a chair coolie in the service of the late Queen. From that time his rise was hoped, and he became Minister of finance, and subsequently Minister of the Household. Numerous attempts have been made on his life, on one occasion by means of poisoned food, on the other by the discharge of an infernal machine.

The King has already been described. He is short—only five feet four—with a pleasant face and a soft, pleasing voice. In conversation he laughs frequently and with infectious gaiety.

He is progressive—in his attitude of mind, at least—eagerly studies European educational works, and is a patron of many educational institutions founded on Western ideas.

Pen Portrait of Lady Om.

Here is an interesting study of Lady Om, the lucky courtesan who has become virtual Empress of Korea:—

is mature, fat, and feebly, if freely, frolic-Her face is pitted with smallpox; her excesses make them martyrs to indigestion."

An interesting account is given of the enormous monastic institutions, in which a large percentage of the population live, and of the great influence which Buddhism still exercises over the people There is an enthusiastic description of the beauties of the country, which teems with game, but the Korean is no sportsman, and the gentry think is beneath their dignity to hunt.

How Japanese are Hated.

How Japanese are Hated.

Speaking of the serious outlook in the present situation, Mr. Hamilton says bluff is a component part of Russian diplomacy, and there is ground for believing that her intentions are by no means so warlike as might be implied. He calls attention to the fact that, while Japanese official influence in Korea has generally been for Korea's benefit, there is no person more generally detested by the Korean than the Japanese, whose arrogance is extreme. The Japanese in Korea, he says, are a blot on the prestige of Japan.

Mr. Angus Hamilton is step-son to Mr. Pinero, and has had an adventurous career. He was in Mafeking during the siege, and has seen service as a war correspondent in many parts of the world.

RELEASED BY THE KAISER.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BERLIN, Thursday.

Frau Ernestine Schumam Heinck, the famous singer, left to-day for America, where she will play in fifty different towns.

Some time ago the singer, on the ground that she had a large family and numerous dependents to support, asked leave to break her engagement in Berlin to accept a more advantageous offer in America.

The Intendant of the Royal Berlin Opera laid ne matter before the Kaiser, who granted her

KOREAN CRIMINALS EXPOSED IN THE MARKET PLACE "TO ENCOURAGE THE OTHERS."

Mr. Hamilton has collected a lot of curious in-formation as to agricultural customs, and we learn that the farmer's chief animal friend is the bull, which drags his plough and draws his rude market cart.

which drags his plough and draws his rude market can be stated to bring her husband a board and a beast in the fields; she cooks a business, or tills and cultivates a cook to the cultivates and the cult

"RITA" REBOUND.

SMART SET'S SIN AND SCANDAL EXPOSED IN VOLUME FORM.

"Rita's" hysterical onslaught in the columns of the "Gentlewoman" on "The Sin and Scandal of the 'Smart' Set" was received with such general laughter and derision that one would have imagined the lady to have retired to reconsider her ideas and refrained from further publication until she knew her subject a little better.

But not so, she desires to flaunt her convictions and scandals in our faces once more, and does so this time between the corners of a little green paper book, published by the "Gentlewoman, Ltd."

Some of "Rita's" critics said that even if speem paper loose, published by the "Gentle-woman, Ltd."

Some of "Rita's" critics said that even if the "smart" set were as black as she painted them, no good purpose would be served in exposing their misdeeds. That little "if" seems the author's only excuse for the collection and publication of the original articles. In a "note" she begs to differ from these critics. "Suffer an influential though numerically small section of society to parade its immodest practices without censure, and it will end by corrupting that portion which is healthy." So if our children show no inclination to be smart we shall have to thank "Rita" for cutting away corruption.

Where Smart Slang Came From.

Where Smart Slang Came From.

Where Smart Slang Came From.

Other critics have asked "Where did this good lady study 'smart' society? Between the lines of the green-covered booklet we discover her reference library. It is small, but meets the requirements of the case. It consists of "The Visits of Elizabeth," and a bookful of cuttings of causes cilebres. The *smart woman she found is truly a horrible creature.

She gives in for everything. For sport coman she found is truly a horrible creature.

She goes in for everything. For sport, gambling, racing, motoring, flirting, dressing, dancing, and scandalising!" She does whatever men do in order to keep "pally" with them.

She has her own engagements, her own latchkey, her own brand of liqueurs and cigarettes, her own pals and lovers, and her own special vice, is of all things the most modern the most unfeminine and the most dangerous. She is the outcome and curse of our ultra-civilised life. "Herself—and then the Deluge."

We have had enough of the slang of "Rita's" set—it must be her set—but we are amused to hear that it was "composed by a distinguished mondaine. . . in one of those expansive moods when the intellect overrules the sense."

'Must Be Talking."

"Must Be Talking."

We thought so. A friend, no doubt, of those other ladies on whose lips the "slang of the stables is as common as their cigarette cases or their betting books."

But, surely, when a "smart" woman takes a stable oath she does not kiss her betting book or cigarette case!

Hear "Rita" on friendship:—

True friendship is a costly jewel. A monarch cannot purchase nor a millionaire bribe it." But be a person wealthy and vulgar enough he can obtain its imitation in the "Smart" set. To stand by a woman who is "down on her luck" would not occur to her dearest friend. The cruellest enemies of "smart" society's queens are their friends. False lives must be falsely lived. Yet, after all, is it to be wondered at?

Certainly not. The members of smart societies "must be seen, must be known, must be advertised, must be notorious in some shape or form." So must lady novelits!

IS SUICIDE HEREDITARY ?

A well-to-do landowner in a village near Czer-nowitz has (writes our Vienna correspondent) com-mitted suicide. Both his father and grandfather had put an end to their own lives, one of his brothers drowned himself, and a sister took poison.

THE MOVABLE CAGE IN WHICH A KOREAN LADY MAKES HER CALLS.

Our Feuilleton.

Chance, P 10 v v the Juggler.

BY CORALIE STANTON AND HEATH HOSKEN.

(Authors of "By RIGHT OF MARRIAGE.")

CHAPTER LL

"But I can't, Philip!" cried Sir John, insistently. "You come and tell me this dreadful news in bald words, and expect me to be silent. It is like a thunderbolt. I had no suspicion. For three years you have lived an ideal life; I have been gladdened by the sight of your happiness. I had the privilege of watching over your wife during your absence, of sharing her joy at your return. And now you come and tell me this! My heart and mind are full of questions. I cannot be silent. I love Martia as if she were my own daughter. I can't bear to think that through a misunderstanding you are ruining her life as well as your own. It can only be a misunderstanding, Philip!"

"I am sorry," said Philip, "that I cannot feel

"I am sorry," said Philip, "that I cannot feel that I owe an explanation to any man—not even to you sir. It is only Martia's affair, and mine." And then, as he caught the look of pain in his father's blue eyes, he added, trying to force his speech into a lighter tone, "After all, it isn't the first time that two people have found out they don't hit it off as well as they expected to." But his words rang false, and Sir John looked at him re-proachfully.

first time that two people have found out they don't hit it off as well as they expected to." But his words rang false, and Sir John looked at him reproachfully.

"My boy," he said, "don't talk like that. You blaspheme against your great happiness when you talk about 'not hitting it off." That may do for the mass of people, who marry as they feed; but you have always had a higher ideal; and I have often thanked God that in this topsy-tury world I have been privileged to see one perfect marriage—and that my own son's."

Philip stirred restlessly; then he rose and leant over the balustrade that surrounds the piazza on two sides, and again, without seeing it, his eyes travelled over the incomparable view. He was disturbed; again he felt stirring in him those violent passions, which, for the last fortnight, he had resolutely stilled, until they merged into one great and persistent effort to forget the woman who bore his name. Jealousy, doubt, hatred—they were uncomfortable things to live with; and he had determined to get all possible good out of life. He had not actually felt the loss of Martia yet; he was too angry, too convinced of the enormity of her offence, too desperately sorry for himself. But his father had reminded him of many things; he belonged to the period before the tragedy; he spoke to him of his great happiness; and this beautiful clear air of Italy with its nameless but potent magic, also spoke to him, and reminded him, and stirred in him memories of the days when he and Martia had roamed alone together in this lovely land, memories so sweet that they cut like knives, that baffled and exasperated him, because he had vainly imagined that by the act of physical separation from her who shared them he could banish the glory that had been for ever. "Philip! " His father's voice broke in on these uneasy thoughts. He turned, and a dark look came into his face, for, mingled with the pain and bewilderment, there was now censure in Sir John's tones which had lost their feebleness and now become authoritativ

Martia leave you of her own accord?"

"Ves—that is—she—she agreed with me that it was best."

"What do you mean—she agreed with you?"

"What I say," was the dogged answer. "She—she saw that it was the only thing to do."

"You speak, Philip, as if it were you who had broken the marriage bond."

The young man uttered an impatient exclamation.

"Since you insist," he said, "I may as well tell you that it was I who decided that we could not live together any more. And now, sir, I beg of you not to make it difficult for me by asking any more questions that I cannot answer."

But he did not realise with whom he was dealing. Sir John was a fervent believer in the sanctity and indissolubility of the marriage tie. He not only held this belief with the ardour of a pure mind, but clung to it tenaciously, as one of the indestructible dogmas of the Church.

"Prillip," he said, with intense solemnity, "there is only one reason for which a man may put away his wife. No man on earth could persuade me to believe that Martia has been false to her marriage vows. You are doing her a great wrong."

It was with great difficulty that Philip repressed wrong."

It was with great difficulty that Philip repressed a sneer. Another champion rising up in defence of the absent woman, bolstered up this time by the authority of the Church and the Laws of God!

"You must allow me to know best, sir," he said,

"You don't seem disposed to believe me, if I did."
"You cannot, Philip! It seems that it is for me to defend the child's honour because she is absent. You cannot tell me that Martia has been false to her marriage vows?"
Sir John's blue eyes searched his son's face feverishly. Philip flushed hotly; he returned his father's gaze without flinching, but with a hard, reckless look in his eyes.
"I have said that there is a reason which, to me, is sufficiently valid why it is better that Martia and I should separate. And the fault is hers; not mine." He flung the last words out savagely, and then lapsed into frigid silence.
Sir John's face had undergone a transformation; the pleading and bewilderment had faded; and he looked as stern as it was possible to one of such benevolent and courtly aspect.

"Philip, where is Martia?" he asked.

"In London—I believe. At first she seemed to wish to hide from me; but she evidently changed her mind, and sent me a telegram asking for her luggage to be forwarded to an address in Mayfair—Clarges-street or Half Moon-street; I forget which," His manner was elaborately polite.
"And you firmly intend to allow her to remain sunprotected, the prey of any scandalous and mischievous tongue?"

Philip flared up; he burst out savagely:—
"You choose not to believe me—it is not my fault. You persist in assuming that it is a trivial quarrel that could be mended by a word."

"Because I am convinced that Martia is incapable of any evil action, and in the married state all other things must be borne with patience and charity. I am going to England; and, since you have withdrawn the protection you owe to her, I shall offer her mine, and ask her to come to live with me."

"You can't!" cried Philip, harshly. "Think with me."

"You can't!" cried Philip, harshly. "Think what people would say of me! If she lived with you they would all think I was to blame. It isn't fair I don't know what's come to everybody. Even my own father thinks I am a monster. And I'm in the right."

"I cannot think that you are, my boy," said Sir John, middly, but with great determination. "Martia has made you an ideal wife. To question her love for you would be childish. You cannot tell me that there is any real reason why you should banish her from your life, but you act as if there were; you leave her alone and unprotected; you cout scandal and gossip; you doom her to a life of loneliness and misery."

Philip broke in with an ugly laugh: "I can relieve your mind of that impression. The first thing she did when she left me was to go over to Monte Carlo and break the bank!"

Sir John was shocked and pained. There was something brutally callous in the action, but still more so in the husband's mention of it. And the father was more firmly convinced than ever; perhaps, with the clear sight of age he had looked more deeply into Martia's soul than Philip had ever done.

"It is what I said," he continued; "you fail in your duty, and you put temptation in her way, and drive her to do things that a happy woman would never think about. I know that you are wronging her; and it is a fearful responsibility to break a woman's heart. Oh, Philip, something tells me—I feel it so strongly that I know it must be true—that Martia never wronged you even by the shadow of a thought. And the only error she could ever fall into would be loving you too well."

And so, unconsciously, or with almost divine insight, the feelbe old man, wrapped up in things spiritual, spoke the whole truth to his son about the woman whose great love for him had drawn her into this cruel network of tragedy and despair. But Philip was blind; and he only frowned obstinately, and wondered at the injustice of the world, and pitted himself for being so entirely misunderstood, and praised himself for of alarm. This interview seemed to have given him some new strength; there was colour in his wasted checks, and his blue eyes alone with a feerish whole being seemed tense with excitement. Just so had he looked on that night when he had first told Philip the story of the great sin of its youth when he had stolen the name that he had borne in such lofty pride and honour for more than thirty years.

Francis, and how humble he was, and always before the had first told Philip the story of the great sin of his youth when he had stolen the name that he had borne in such lofty pride and honour for more than thirty years.

Francis, and how humble he was, and always the head that he had borne in such lofty pride and honour for more than thirty years.

Francis, and how humble he was, and always the head of the secret, and his intense relief when he found that, on recovering, Sir John had lost his memory. And now that he saw in his father the exact reproduction of that state of intense physical and register that the same than the state of intense physical and register that the same than the same to be lived through again.

He felt it imperative that Sir John should compose himself, and regain his peace of mind and serenity; and so he took his arm and raised him from the seat, forcing his voice into a tone of hill dutifules and an obe took his arm and raised him from the seat, forcing his voice into a tone of hill dutifules and one took his arm and raised him from the seat, forcing his voice into a tone of hill dutifules and one took his arm and raised him from the seat, forcing his voice into a tone of hill dutifules and one took his arm and raised him from the seat, forcing his voice into a tone of hill dutifules and one took his arm and raised him from the seat, forcing his voice into a tone of hill dutifules and one took his arm and raised him from the seat, forcing his voice into a tone of hill dutifules and the properties of the properties of the properties wearisone walk down to the station, if you wanted exercise; and he did not care a pin for pictures, or for that strange people, the Etruscans, who have left their walls and their gates and the most mysterious and fascinating of tombs.

Very soon Father Lyle joined him.

"You ought to see something of the country, Captain Chesney," he began. "Look here!" and he led the way to the eastern side of the piazza and pointed to a cream-coloured town sprawling on a steep hillside over the wide valley. "Assist! Doesn't it call you?" he asked.

"I should like to see it very much," was the none too gracious reply. "If ever a man felt disinclined for sight-seeing, that man stood before Patrick Lyle on this brilliant morning.

"Sir John suggested that I should take you over. Would you care to come? We have just time to catch the train. Your father feels that a day's complete rest and quiet will do him good."

"Yes, let's go by all means. It is very good of you."

over. Would you care to 1 should take you over. Would you care to come? We have just time to eatch the train. Your father feels that a day's complete rest and quiet will do him good."
"Yes, let's go by all means. It is very good of you."
Philip had only just time to look into his father's room and bid him good-morning and then make a rush for the train.
Once settled in the carriage, and rattling through the peaceful Umbrian country, the two men hardly spoke. Lyle perused some Italian papers, and Philip gazed idly out of the window. When they had nearly reached their destination the younger man exclaimed impetuously:
"That's one advantage about priests—they do know how to hold their tongues. I mean," he added, meeting Father Lyle's serene and winning smile, "I know my father has been talking to you, padre, about me and my affairs, and yet you've never said a word."
"I am extremely sorry," gravely put in the priest. "And I wanted to speak to you about your father."
"You mean," said Philip quickly, "that he's not well, and—this has upset him?"
"I fear he is far from well. I think he ought to go to England and see his own doctor."
"He told me he was going. I quite agree with you. He is not strong enough to knock about." As he spoke, a sudden fear smote Philip. He remembered the look on his father's face; remembered all his forebodings; he remembered that the Partick Lyle knew the secret of his father's sin. And he looked askane at the priest, and would have shut himself up in a shell of frigid reserve, only just then they reached Assisi, and, as they drove up the steep hill from the station to the town, the priest talked with so much charm and graciousness that Philip forgot his fears, and would have shut himself up in a shell of frigid reserve, only just then they reached Assisi, and, as they drove up the steep hill from the station to the town, the priest talked with so much charm and graciousness that Philip forgot his fears, and would have shut himself up in a shell of frigid reserve, only just then they reache

THE ATTRACTIVE 'KINK

"It is everything nowadays to past an attractive 'Kink' in the hair."
"LADIES' PRESS."

Avery pretty thing is wayy hair, of with a "kink." It seems to mater what the shade of it may happen what the shade of it may happen the popular novelist, down through the popular novelist, down through richest and deepest black, hair wayy looks prettier and nicople's naturally wayy; while with soing perhaps we shall be safe in superity of cases—there is a straight not infrequently detracts in a more representation of the safe in some perhaps we shall be safe in superity of cases—there is a straight not infrequently detracts in a more repressessing and the safe in the safe in superity of the safe in safe in the safe in the safe in safe in the safe in owner.

It has been held to be my man's privilege, but actually to do the best she can for the her own personal appearance, matter of wavy hair there is interested opened for those whom left unadorned, for would most clever expert to tell the between tresses of natural way hair rendered wavy by the use of "Wavers."

A strong point shout the Way between tresses of natural hair rendered wavy by the use of "Wavers."

A strong point about the Wavery natural result produced.

When waving is overdone, for unsatisfactory because a sort of artificial appearance is given to The effect of waving is absoluted it is overdone. The object in not to get the hair as much indo of an unexploded "Back Wrappe sible, but to develop a scarcely mudulation in it which shall graceful and artistic. There this more painful to those made hair-dressing a scientific but see a girl whose hair has have do the extent alluded when waved with the help developed in the series of gentle undulations, general appearance is the very of sharp bends and short twists.

No. 18 is used in the same way as No. 18 is used in the same way as No. 18 in the dutes an equally pretty wave lighter, being composed of a frame of early with a centre bar of tortolains.

"For her no fear of storm po Hinde's Wavers e'en the elet

HINDE'S, LIMITED, Patentees and turns of Articles for the Dressins Arabeta States, Birmingham, and I, Taberta London, E.C.

thall Advertisements are the offices of the accept the street and a few that the offices of the street, and a few that the street, and the stre

22, 1904

"DAII

Daily Mirror "have replie the have replies to the have replies to the have replies to the half to the ha been Box Departm lf replies are to Postage must be still advertisement.

UTUATIONS WANT Menservants. to invalid gentleman; lequires engagement.

sekeepers. REPER OF Help wants Si

Highburn references.—M.

panion. in cheerful lady; 23; pia:

dy's Maid. disengaged; dressmakir sparance; telerences; £50-£ sparance, tall.—A. W., 21, urmaids

MAID Sood Useful H. Soog references; Bi emaid.

13 or Parlourmaid; dis 124 £26; good reference 45, New Bonds

SITUATIONS VACA

tablain) and Nurse want 1.30-3. 2f, Montague

See Nain; two in family; go

woodlawn, Dulwich Vil

"It seems to man de of it may happed den tresses of the hovelist, down throu-londe, and brown deepest black, laid en held to be not

"DAILY ADVERTISEMENTS. MIRROR" SMALL

12 words or less I/- (Id. per word afterwards).

inal Advertisements are rebilly at the Offices of the billy at the Offices of the old street, "45 and 46, New billy attrot," 45 and 46, New bill street, "W., and 2, Carbill street, "W., and 2, Carbill street, "W., and 7 (Saturdays, bill street, "Saturdays, bill street, "Saturdays, "All street, "Saturdays, CTIVE 'KINK. thing nowadays to pos ve 'Kink' in the hair. "LADIES', FIELD. ty thing is wavy hair, of s crossed BARCLAY & CO. han not be accepted). Mill not be accepted.

Daily Mitror " advertisers to their state to their state to their state to their state to the " advertisers to their state to the " Daily Mitror" a Box Department speak in Speak II speak of the state to postago must be sent advertisement.

TUATIONS WANTED.

servants.

or to invalid gentleman; kind, respectively, requires engagement.—Swabey ag Plain); disengaged; £26; Ger See, South Hampstead.

Care Acton, W. sekeepers.

The Dr. Help wants Situation by Lancaster-road, Strou

ed: Sport, Matron, or Companion; 1800d, references,—M. M., 48, panion.

the state of the s ly's Maid.

diengaged; dressmaking, hair-issed rejectences; £50-£52; age product, fall.—A. W., 21, Nicholurmaids.

LIOURMAID; disengaged; £24; and Fear; teferences.—K. W., 56, and East; Finchley. LIOURMAID; disengaged; four strenge; age 25,—Apply 45, High

OURMAID; R.C.; experienced; mended; disengaged the 12th 79, Pembroke-road, Dublin. or good Useful Help; dis-good references; Brixton or eletcher, 34, Bourne-road as cashier or secretary W 548, "Daily Mirror," 45, employer.—S. P., 7, Paddington

SITUATIONS VACANT.

ain) and Nurse wanted: 230 in family lurse wanted: 230 50_3, if fat; personal refer Montague-mansions al; two in family; good wages; age 25-40,—Apply Krieger, 54,

HOUSE-PARLOURMAID and Housemaid wanted; 5 servants; good wages.—Mrs. Westmacott, Nettlestone, Isle of Wight.

SITUATIONS VACANT.

SITUATIONS VACANT. COOK wanted, at once, for hospital conva cent home, Parkwood, Swanley; applica must have had experience with similar wo salary, £30.—Apply to the Matron.

salary, £30.—Apply to the Matron.

COOKS Wanted —A little book, "Try it," by

Mrs. Humphry ("Maige," of "Fruth"), showing how to make dainly dishes, with a saing in time and money, will be forwarded post freeman's Delicious Custad Powder and particulars of a special free offer of a pair of Bent's superfor Kui Gloves, or a set of in Offer may not be repeated, so all housewise, housekeepers, and cooks, are invited to write

housekeepers, and cooks are invited to write

if "Factory, Gray's Inn-road, London, W.C.

COOK-GENERAL wanted, age 30, salary £20 also housemaid, age 25, salary £18; for drapery establishment.—Apply Mrs. Sellers, 150, Uxbridge-road, West Ealing.

COOK-GENERAL (good) wanted for family of 2; house-parlourmaid kept.—Mrs. Watts, Summerhill, Chislehurst.

COOK-GENERAL and young House-Parloun maid wanted; small family; fares paid of engagement.—24, Quex-road, West Hampstead

COOK-GENERAL (good), and Housemaid; ag 25 to 30; good wages; comfortable home.-Apply, after 6 p.m., 5, West Cromwell-road

COOK-GENERAL wanted; wages £18 to £20; also Housemaid, £14 to £16; good references required.—Apply, Westfield, Netherstreet, Church End, Finchieg, N. COOK-GENERAL; good character; family 4; servants 3.-31, Addison-gardens, Kensing

COOK-GENERAL (plain) and young House

COOK GENERAL (good) wanted for family of two; house-pariourmaid kept. — Mrs Watts, Summerhill, Chisichurst.

COOK-GENERAL wanted at once; small COOK-GENERAL wanted; £18-£22; three in family; nurse-housemaid kept.—Mrs. Carpenter, 46. Manor-road, Beckenham.

COOK-GENERAL wanted for Camberley three in family; three servants; good cook

COOK-GENERAL and Housemaid (young wanted at once,-Kitchen, 477, Oxford

COOK-HOUSEKEEPER and House-Parlour maid wanted immediately.—Mrs. Lyne Rozel, Woodcote Valley-road, Furley.

General Servants.

CENERAL (superior) wanted; two in far country, near London; quiet, comfor stuation; £20; Churchwoman.—Write Daily mirror, 45, New Bong-street, w.

GENERAL (good), who can cook, wanted at once; three in family; no washing.-19, toomfield-street. Paddington.

GENERAL for small flat; three in family wages £14-£16.—C., 39a, Franciscan-road

GENERAL; able to do plain cooking; girkept.—Apply 28, Reathneld-terrace, Turn-

GENERAL Servant wanted; aged 20 to 25; good plain cooking essential; wages £18; nurse-housensaid kept.—2, Sternhold-avenue, Streatham Hill. CENERAL Servant wanted; good wages
Apply to Mrs. Harris, 3, St. John's-street, Smithfield, E.C.

Smithneid, E.C.

CENERAL (good) wanted; plain cooking; amail family; comfortable situation for willing girl; wages £20; interview by appointment; fare refunded.—Arlington Lodge, Freston-road, Brighton.

ton-road, Brighton.

C'ENERAL (good) wanted, February 2, small
f flat, Hampstead; good wages and outings to competent, willing worker.—Write 871,
"Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

PERSON (superior) wanted to do housework for lady's small house; good cooking.—P.,

THOROUGHLY honest, respectable girl wanted, as general; plain cooking; personal character; comiortable place; small family; apply after 5 o'clock—106, Ladbrokergrove, W. (upstains private door).

USEFUL He'p wanted, to take charge of one little girl [48], and slight housemaids duties and plain meedlework; servant kept.—11, Sutherland-avenue, Loudon, W.

Nurses.

ADY Nurse (experienced) or Nurse wanter immediately; two children (32, 15 months) their good needlewoman; Church of Eng land; personal character; wages 420-424.— Mar. Perkin, Thurston Lodge, Reigate.

NURSE wanted in small family; 3 children must be thoroughly experienced and good needlewoman; really comfortable home; servant kept; no agents; a.O.—Write 845, "Daily Mirror, 45, New Bond-street, W.

NURSE.—Superior girl wanted as nurse-sewing maid to boy of 4; do own nursery; must be good needlewoman and have good personal character; good wages to suitable person.—Apply Mrs. Penfold, The Kraal, Addlestone, Surtey.

NURSE-HOUSEMAID required; must be an early riser.—Madame, 15, Avonmore-road, West Kensington.

West Kensington.

SWISS Nurse (superior) wanted; nurserie cleaned; country; needlewoman; 3 children good wages.—Mrs. Margerison, Red Scar, Grim Parlourmaids.

HOUSE-PARLOURMAID required immediately, Dulwich Village, S.E. Station-road, Harlesden, N.W. 44,

HOUSE-PARLOUR and strong Girl, a between-maid, wanted immediately.-Write particulars to Mrs. G., Vicarage, Whet stone, N.

HOUSE-PARLOURMAID (experienced) quired socond week in February; family of five; good wages; age under housemaid kept, and boy for boots, etc.—Ap Mrs. Adkin, 6, 8t. John's-park, Blackheath.

HOUSE-PARLOURMAID wanted at once good wages.—Write 842, "Daily Mirror, 45, New Bond-street, W.

HOUSE-PARLOURMAID wanted (young); scryants; small family.-F., 20, Belsize

PARLOURMAID or thorough House-parlour maid wanted; Protestant; tail; good needlewoman; good character required.—Apply with full particulars, to F. W. S., Duneevan Oatlands Park, Weybridge.

PARLOURMAID or Hall Attendant required immediately; £25.—Write Mrs. M. J., 131 Between-Maid.

BETWEEN-MAID wanted, February 4: 3 maids kept.—Apply Mrs. Gosse, 17, Han over-terrace, Regent's Park, N.W.

Housemaids.

HOUSEMAID, with good character, wanted; about 18; two in family; private house; no windows; three servants; easy place.—H., 4; Nottingham-street, Marylebone.

HOUSEMAID (single-handed) wanted; 2 in family; 4 servants; London.—Write 641 "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

Hotels and Boarding Houses.

COOK (good) and Kitchenmaid wanted for hotel at Hindhead, Hasiemere; thoroughly good English cooking required; wages good.— write 859, "Daily Mirror," 48, New Bond street, W.

HOUSE-PARLOURMAID wanted in private boarding-house; help given; age 20,-3

Miscellaneous.

WANTED, in a clergyman's family, a stron respectable young person to help with the housework; washing put out; no childre three in family; £16,—110, 8t. George's-rea Southwark.

HOUSES, ETC., FOR SALE.

AN Estate of 40 new houses for immediat As ale, all fitted with electric light an nicely tenanted; rental $250?; price only to run, with a mail ground rent of save out remain on mortgage.—Mines and Sutherland Ltd., 65, South John-treek, Liverpool.

BRONDESBURY.—Attractive modern Res dence; 11 rooms, bath (h. and c.); garden excellent repair; lease 62 years; ground ren £10 10s; rental value £60; price £085.—App; to Actual Owner, 110, Bramah-road, Brixton.

BUILDING Land, suitable for shops, cottages and villas; price from 5s, 6d, per yard advances made.—Mines and Sutherland, Ltd. 65, South John-street, Liverpool.

on, South John-street, Liverpool.

COLONIAL ESTATE FOR SALE.—Advertiser offers for sale his extremely profitable estate profits of the sale of the sal

bers, London, E.C.

FOR SALE, six well built, modern cottages
all let to most respectable tenants; close te
all let to most respectable tenants; close te choice little investment; money wants will be sold very cheap; Jarge part purchase money can remain at 4 per cent; only wan seeing—Call at once and view, at Mrs. Rowles 4 States of the control of the control of the control
quent trains from Waterhood,

PREEHOLDS.-7 rooms, garden; close rail tram; £2 month, excluding rates; £350 each.-Rutters, 10, Norfolk-street, W.C.

HIGHAMS-PARK Chingford,—Lorely spot-faily decorated rely in a mice rooms; beautiful decorated rely forecourt, and garden; close station, near Forest; lease 97 years; price £230, or only £30 cash and balance as rent.—Write to Owner, 4 Monthelds, £250.

Mornieda, E. (1).—Vilte to Owier, 4, Moornieda, E. (2).

JPSWICH (district of).—Valuable dairy farm of 86 acres; 40 acres oid pasture; we watered and timbered; 5 minutes from railway population 4,000; capital house and oubuildings (with accommodation for 50 cows); stabling, etc., the proximity of the town and station for the parish road; a large building value; farm produce can be rayidly despatched to all parts; and continued to the parish road; a large building value; farm discussed to the parish road; a large building value; farm doubtless arrangements can be made for immeand country of the parish road; a large dairy business is now carried on, and coubless arrangements can be made for immeand Crowther, 24 and 28, Basinghall-street, E.C.

HOUSES TO LET, FURNISHED AND UNFURNISHED.

LEE-ON-SOLENT.—Nicely furnished house to let; near post, church, station; balcony piano, plate, linen.—For terms apply 6, Pier road, Lee-On-Solent.

BOARD RESIDENCE AND APARTMENTS.

A HOME in small private family offered to one paying guest.—Write 862, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

DOARDING-HOUSE for gentlemen (high Leron yearly rent £70, worth double; hand somely furnished, electric light, bath, ornamen confly married, electric light, bath, ornamen confly married, retiring; soll £550, or valua-tion; no agenta—Write 800, "Daily Mirror," 48, New Bond-streek, W.

L ADY having house too large for her would be glad of couple to share expenses; private sitting-room; good fruit garden; golf links closs—Obbard, Kempston, Exmouth.

YOUNG lady offered superior home in lovely country house.—Bletchley Hall, Bucks.

EDUCATIONAL.

A BOARDING SCHOOL (Boys); best in England; moderate terms.—Prospectus, Secretary, Walsall Commercial College, Walsall

A BRILLIANT record for the Cusack Inst utte. White-street. Moorfields, E.C., a tot. 1905 Contine-street. Moorfields, E.C., a tot. 1905 Contine-street. Moorfields, E.C., a second places at all shorthand exams, fourtee medias and fitteen money prizes for commercia subjects; illustrated prospectus free.

AN Excellent School for young boys, special recommended by Ven. Archdeacon of Lo don, Colonel Sinclair, R.E., Assist, Qr.Mas Gen. Devonport, and London medical men. Apply Head Master Alperton Hall, Harrow.

ARMY, Univ., and all Exams.—Preparation by successful tutor; games; healthy district.—Cumberland House, Gravesend.

BAD WRITING rapidly changed into bush ones style; thousands have benefited by our famous system of individual instruction bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, arithmetic, Spanish, Portuguese, etc.—Smith and Smark (established 1840), 59, Bishopgate BLACKHEATH SCHOOL for universities professions, services; 8 masters; cade corps; organised games; 2 boarding houses healthy situation; near London.—Headmaster H. R. Woolrych, M.A.

BROADSTAIRS, Kent.—Pierremont College thorough education on modern lines symmasium, practical chemistry, sea-bathing moderate fees, preparatory department.—Appl for illustrated prospectus to L. W. Fonnett M.A., B.S.

MA., B.c.

BUSINESS arithmetic, bookkeeping, hand writing lessons; personal or correspondence.—Houstoun, 75, Chancery-lane.

CIVIL SERVICE.—Expert tuition; individus coaching; low fees.—Write prospectus, National Civil Service Correspondence College (cortrolled solely by Civil servants), 40, Chancery lane, London. Nelson Le Fevre, Secretary.

COLLINGWOOD COLLEGE, Lee, Blackheath
-Inclusive terms from 22 guineas; ladies

FOREIGN LANGUAGES rapidly acquired.
Hugo's simplified system; small classe private lessons; native specialists.—235, Regen street; 195, Earl's Court-road; 110, Fleet-stree 33, Graccehurch-street.

FRENCH FAMILY in the North of Franch offers from Feb. next boarding and Fren HOME SCHOOL (girls').—Thorough mode: ducation; moderate fees.—Summerlan Montague-road, Richmond, Surrey.

K NIGHTSVILLE Ladies' College, Brockle London.—Reopens January 25; preparati for examinations if desired; special arranments for little ones; prospectuses forwarded MANILLA COLLEGE, Queen's-road, Pecham; boys and girls; sound education from £18. from £18.

M. R. MARPYN VAN LENNEP, Musical Di Westington, London County Council Musical an Westininster Operatio Societies, with Mrs. Va Lennep, offer exceptional advantages, social am musical to pour operation of the property of the council of the council of the council of the cortes sequences. The council of the coun STAMMERING, Lisping.—Former suffered desires pupils.—Letters, Speech, 8, Birching. London.

lane, London.

WANTED, abroad, young Englishman, to co verse during spare time with a Fronc man, who will in exchange give lessons French; must be a gentleman of good educatio
—Apply Caesens, Zele, Belgium.

Young Lady Planiste required; resident as fistant student; West-end college; remunera-tion according to services.—A. R., Library, Chi-chester-street, Westbournia.

COUNTRY APARTMENTS TO LET AND WANTED.

BOURNEMOUTH. - Superior Board-Resi dence; desirable, permanent home; clos pier.-Ashurst, Richmond-hill.

BOURNEMOUTH (Glenroy Hall).—En pen sion; new proprietorship; minute sea, winter gardens; billiards; Tel. 173.

BOURNEMOUTH (West Cliff). — House, Boarding Establishment; own grounds; south aspect; terms m BOURNEMOUTH.—"Home from home refined, musical, cheerful; private apa ments or board; terms moderate.—4, Que Anne-gardens.

BRIGHTON.—Apartments on the sea-front between piers.—Russell House, Grand Junction-parade.

BRIGHTON.—Eastcote Boarding Establish ment, 26, Regency-square; established 30 years; moderate terms.

BRIGHTON.—Adjoining sea-front; from 17s

EASTBOURNE (facing sea).—Board-residence 21s.—Bew, 31, Royal-parade. Stamp.

E'ASTBOURNE (sea front),—Angles Popular Boarding Establishment; comfortable, con genial, commodious; 25s. week, 4s. 6d. day.—Address Angles, Royal-parade.

HASTINGS.-19, South-terrace; board-res

SCILLY ISLANDS (St. Mary's).—Ideal winter resort; more equable climate than Nice Tregarthen's Hotel; best and most comfortable electric light throughout; enlarged and redece rated.—Apply Manageress. ST. LEONARDS.—Recommended apartments sea front; best situation; moderate.—16, and 21, Marina.

ST. LEONARDS.—Cliff House, St. Margaret's S road, Warrior-square; boarding-residence under new management; redecorated and re-drained; from 25s.

FLATS TO LET AND WANTED.

BALHAM.—The very best maisoneties at the particular of the particu

S.W. HACKNEY DOWNS,—Convenient flat; a rooms and bath room (not and cold water) nicely decorated; rent £45; only one to let ou of 32 flats; keys of bouskeoper, Cavendish mansions, Clapton-square.—Owners, 353, Gos well-road, Angel, Islington.

MARKETING BY POST.

A BSOLUTELY Pure Cream.—Send threepence to Fussell and Co., 4, Monument-street, London, to receive free 1th, tin sterilized cream.—Name your grocer.

DAREN " Bread.—Ask your baker; if not obtainable, write " Daren " Mills, Dart-

FISH.—7lbs. 2s.; 10lbs. and upwards 3d. per lb.; carefully cleaned; carriage paid; freshness guaranteed; trade supplied; price lists on application.—Crown Fish Co., Grimbsy Docks.

LADIES sending one penny postage stamp to Goodall Backhouse, and Co., Leeds, will receive a copy of the famous Cookery Book entitled "Good Thinga"; mention this paper, and mark the envelope boldly "Good Things."

IVE FISH; unrivalled value; choice selected basket, 6lb., 2s.; 9lb., 2s. 6d.; 11lb., 5s.; 14lb., 5s. 6d.; 21lb., 5s.; cleaned and carriage paid; sure to please; list and particulars free.—Standard Fish Company, Grimsby. N.B.—Inferior quality at cheaper rates not supplied.

NATIVE OYSTERS, direct from pure beds, 100 for 10s.; 50, 5s, 6d.; carriage paid.— Langstaff and Co., West Mersea, Colchester. NORFOLK Rectory Brand.—"Coston" Biscuits; delicate Cheese Biscuits; 6d. per tin NORFOLK Rectory Brand,-" Jam Sandwich Cakes" and "Cocoanut Biscuits"; 1s. 6d.

NORFOLK Rectory Brand.—Potted Meats; Beef, Bloater, Chicken, Pheasant; 9d. pot

NORFOLK Rectory Brand.—Full particulars of all Specialities, New, Coston Rectory, PERTH Whisky de Luxe.—Two bottles "Grouse" Liqueur Whisky by post 7s, 6d, Matthew Gloag, Perth, N.B. Established 1800.

SAMPLES Honeline Soap ("Queen" recom-mends), Hair Waver, Toilet Powder, and Jewellery present, 1s.—Honeline, 61, Welfieldins:—

$\frac{1}{4}$ lb, tin Baking Powder

$\frac{1}{4}$ lb, tin Mustard,

$\frac{1}{2}$ lb, tin Mustard,

$\frac{1}{2}$ lb, tin Pepper,

$\frac{1}{2}$ stor Sugar, 1 bottle Chutney,

$\frac{1}{2}$ Oats, 1 tin of Sardines,

$\text{range}$ and Lemon Marmalade

$\text{packed}$. Carriage paid, on re b. jar of Orange and Lemon Marmalade, carefully packed, carriage paid, on re-10s. Such value impossible by buying icles separately. Money willingly re-ti not satisfied. L and CORBELL, Gold Medal Tea s, 90, Boro, London, S.E.

LIVE STOCK, VEHICLES, ETC.

FINE red Bulldog; accustomed to children, good tempered; by Prince Alford; only £5; photo, pedigree.—Statham, 39, Lincoln-road East, reteroprough.

HANDSOME Japanese Spaniel, good points but rather large; cheap, 15 guineas.— write 844, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W. Two blue Persian Queens; championship pedigree; £2 2s. each.—Owner, 4, Grove-

MISCELLANEOUS.

A LADY of good social position, thoroughly caperienced in manicure and facial treatment, wishes to attend ladies for the above at their own house; youthful appearance assured; terms really moderate, write 870, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bondestrect, W.

A NY lady of gentleman wishing to make a really profitable stay in the kiviera should communicate with advertiser; no claborate with gradient of capital necessary.—Box 20, Lee's Advertising Agency, 56a, Ludgate-hill, E.C.

DAINTY TEETH FOR LADIES.—We are Artists in Teeth; every set a special study; sets, £1, £2, £5, £4, £5; single teeth, 2s. 6d., 4s., 7s. 6d. each.—The People's Teeth Association, 138, Strand, London, W.C.

DE MEDICI.—The Great American Face Specialist.—120, New Bond-street, W.

FOREIGN Stamps, Albums, and Postcard
Albums for presents; see illustrated price NFALLIBLE Eyebrow and Eyelash Producer, perfectly harmless.—Address Mem-Sahib, 118, High-road, Chiswick.

L ADY makes Blouses, ladies' own materials; illustrations copied; from 3s. 6d.—Write, or interview, "Doris, 29, Carlingford-road, Hampstead, Hampstead.

LAYETTE wanted; new or second-hand; good condition; reasonable; approval.—Write 835, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

MUSIC given away.—Waltz or Song gratis to all sending stamp for postage.—Lowther, 47, Florence-road, Finsbury Park. NATURAL History Specimens wanted, foreign bird skins, reptiles, fishes, north-skulls, tusks, etc.; state particulars and price.

Write 789, "Daily Mirror, 48, New Bondstreet, W.

OLD Jewellery, artificial teeth, lace, curios, personal attire purchased; highest cash prices forwarded for acceptance or rejection; consignments post, rail, carrier.—Miss Millard, Teddington, Middleson

THE Art of Fascination, the best and most practical book on Personal Magnetism ever published, 1s, 1d,—Manager, "Talisman, Har-

WANTED large bunch Flowers, long stalks weekly, in exchange for weekly papers—Mrs. Stewart, Torban Cottage, Corpach, In WARM PREDT. Meaned foot batters, the Market contest and newly of modeling days; magnetic fire the modeling th

WEST London Ladies' Laundry Ass Acton, W.—Silk and lace linger linens, blouses, jupons, gloves, robes clear daintily dressed by trained gentlewome

ZISKA, the greatest living Scientific Palmist and Astrologer.-169, Oxford-street, Lon-

Read the Daily Bargains on next Page.

IMITED, Patentees To Dressing Tab

The articles advertised in these columns are not on show at the "Daily Mirror" Offices in Bond-street. Readers must communicate with the advertisers by letter.

A N Elegant black silk velvet three-quarter somi-fitting Coat, lined brocade, handsome passementerie; 25; sult till figure.—Wite 3147, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

AN exquisite cream Liberty satin Evening of Gown, hand embroidered front panel, beautifully made; cost 22 guineas; take £5 10s.—Write 3108, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bondstreet, W.

street, W.

An Exquisite model Gown of nut-brown crepe de Chine and lace over primrose silk, gaugings, etc., latest style; cost 25 guineas;
accept £2 10s; good as now.—Write 3163,
"Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

AN exquisite Visiting Gown of champagne Cloth; front panel of thick lace to match; beautifully made; copy French model; average; 24 15s.—Write 3154, "Daily Mirror, 45, New Bond-street, W.

BARGAIN.—Charming pale blue Costume; fit medium figure; quite new; 27s.—Write 868, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

BARGAIN.—Marmot Muff and long Necklet, with tails, 8s. 6d.; worth 60s.; caracul Muff and Necklet, 9s.; sealskin Bag Muff, satin lined, 7s. 6d.; approval.—Beatrice, 6, Grafton-square, Clapham.

BEAUTIFUL Empire Opera Cloak of pale yellow brocade, trimmed rich lace and ermine; coat 22 guineas; take £6 15a. Write 3198, "Dally Miror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

BEAUTIFUL pale pink mousseline de soie Evening Gown, lace, gaugings, and trails of flowers; French model; £5 5s.—Write 3138 "Daily Mirors." 45, New Bond-street, W.

BEAUTIFUL Brussels net and lace Coffee Coat; lace threaded turquoise velvet stoke ends; cost 59s., take 21s.—Writo 3205, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

Autror. 45, New Bond-street, W.

BEAUTIFUL French Petticoat of pink silk; flounce from knee; fillig; black velves ribbon and lace; cost 3 guineas; nearly new;
Sobs-Write 3036, "Dally Mirror," 45, New
Bond-street, W.

BEAUTIFUL model Coat of cream zibeline, appliqué of mignonette green velvet and lace, lined silk; 4 guineas. Write 3100, "Dally Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

DISCUIT-Anges, Pour.

BISCUIT alpaca Dust Cloak, semi-sac, large round collar, wide sleeves; scarcely soiled, 13s.; full length.—Write 3165, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

BLACK cloth Winter Coat, with handsom caracul collar and revers; semi-sac; 25s.-Write 3122, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond street, W.

BOLERO Costume of pale grey herring-bons tweed, pleated skirt, belted coat; quite good; 24, 40; 33s.—Write 3192, "Daily Mir-ror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

BROWN cloth Costume; lined silk-moirette trimmed lace and velvet; very smart; 26 41; 58s.—Write 3118, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

Bond-street, W.

CHARMING cream cloth Costume, small plants trimming: 43c.; medium size.-Write Bonds, Dally Mirror, "8. New Bond-street, W.

CHARMING white cloth sac Cost, short, trimmed blue and white galon; scarcely spiled; 30s.-Write 3144, "Daily Mirror," 45. New Bond-street, W.

New Bond-street, W Bully Mirror, '45, Mary Mirror,' 45, CHARMING Louisines silk Blouse, oplescent colouring, yoke and top slowers ganged; "Daily Mirror,' 48, New Bond-witte, 3140, "Daily Mirror,' 48, New Bonds of payable silk, bedieg land ample china white silk, bedieg land ample china papaness sleeves, silk Oriental trimming, 328.— Write 3167, "Daily Mirror, 45, New Bond-ditect, W.

CHARMING Toque in wine-coloured velvet.

prettily draped, lovely steel buckle; price one guines; new.—The Bond Street Dress Agency, Ltd., 95, New Bond-street, W.

CREAM Silk Slip, transparent lace yoke, gathered sleeves; good as new; 12s. 6d.; small size.—Write 3135, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W. CREAM point d'esprit Theatre Blouse, over audien; 18.—Weile Si49, "Daily Mirror," 45. New Bond-street. W.

New Bond-street, W.

CREAM cloth Toque, silk Astrakhan brim, algrette; very smart; worn few times;
12s. 6d.; cost 30s.—Write 3152, "Daily Mirror, 45, New Bond-street, W.

DAINTY Breakfast Gown of fine French flannel; cream guipure insertion, bodice and sleeves tucked to shape; 29s. 6d.—Write 13168. "Daily Mirror, 45. New Bond-street, W.

D'AINTY cream crèpe de Chine Blouss; worn vaisse ruchings and live trimming; 23 cu value ruchings and live trimming; 23 cu value ruchings and live trimming; 23 cu value ruchings and live trimming; 25 cu value ruching and live r

DAINTY cream and blue-spotted silk Slip yoke of medallion lace, edged gathered flounce; 12s. 6d.; medium.—Write 3171, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

DARK blue frieze Russian Costume; strapped silk, coat lined red satin; 24, 40; 35s.— Write 3116, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street. W.

BARGAINS. Advertisement Rates I2 words or less Is. (Id. per word afterwards.) DAILY

DARK grey tweed sac Coat, reversible: "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

DARK blue serge Outdoor Costume, large collar of glace trimmed Russian braid; 24, 40; 39s.—Write 3182, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

DARK red frieze Costume; velvet applique write 3123, "Daily Mirror, 45, New Bond street. W.

street, W.

DARK blue cloth Walking Costume, Russian Cost, silk lined, piped green velvet: 24,40 sp. Write 3129, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W. Bond-street, W.

EAU de Nil Liberty satin Evening Gown; embroidered silver thread, with chiffon and lace trimmings; medium; Sgns.—Write 5173. Daily Mirror, 48, New Bond-street, W.

street, W.

EXQUISITE lace Gown mounted over white satin, turquoise panne Empire belt and trimmings; good as new; cost 15 guineas; accept £5.—Write 3184, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

Bond-street, W.

FASHIONABLE Semi-Evening Gown of black accordion-pleated crêpe de Chine; frills edged écru lace, bêbé bodice; 24, 41; 38,-Write 3107, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

street, W. Lauy Miror, 45, New Bond Fasilionable blue grey frieze belero Cost tume: walking length; cream cloth facings; 25, 4, mail size. Write 5097, "Daily Miror." AssilionARIE black volle gave on white sile, traisparent insertions yoke and elevelets; gathered skirt and bodice; average: 25 10.—Write 5141, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bondelrock, 10.

Bond-treet, W.

FASHIONABLE black chenille Hat, with unadoon black ostrich feather as ool trinman black ostrich feather as ool trin"Daily Mirror, 45, New Bond-street, W.

FASHIONABLE black voide Gover; with fine hieritons (transparent), cathered boldice: very becoming; 26, 40, 25ns.—Write 3208, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

Bond-street, W.

Sgris.—Write $2008. "Daily Mirrot, 49, cwe Bond-street, W. F. ASHIONABLE crimon cloth Outdoor Concurse, basene coats slik-lined, emart goved the concurse of the concurse, and the concurse, 45, New Bond-street, W. 22.00, "Daily Mirrot, 45, New Bond-street, W. 22.00, "Daily Mirrot, 45, New Bond-street, W. 22.00, "Daily Mirrot, 45, New Bond-street, W. 22.00, "Daily Mirrot," 45, New Bond-street, W. 22.

REE-Lady's dainty cambric Handkerchief postage penny; illustrated list and samples British Linen Company, Oxford-street

street, W.

CIRL'S Party Frock (about 14) of pale blue China silk, prettly mad, Fills, elbow With the Market William of the Market W

GOOD sable-mink Eton Coat; excellent condition; storm collar, large revers; average £3 10s.-66, Herne-hill-road, London.

GREEN and blue feather Boa; good condi-tion; 10s.-Write 843, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

GREY herring-bone tweed Costume; good cut latest style, "trottoir"; 19s. 6d; 25, 37.-Write 5121, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond street, W.

GREY all solienne Govn; ruched chiffor yoke and abevelete, handsome passementeric lace, and apple-green allk lining; 20 mg; 5: 10s.—Write 3120, Daily Mirror, 45, New Market, W.

Bond-street, W.

HANDSOME Evening Gown, black and steel sequin robe, over black silk, chiffon frills, sleeves, and trimmings; 26, 42; 4 guineas,
Write 3106, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bondstreet, W.

street. W.

H val., smartly made, latest spfa, banutiful triuming: 28, 48; 24 los. Write 7145, "Dally Mirror," 48, New Bond-street, W.

H ANDSOME Evening Petiticant of pink slik brocade, deep flouree, triumed lace and the brocade, deep flouree, triumed lace and company of the company of the HANDSOME Afternoon Gown, of Taba brown face cloth; beautifully trimmed silk fringe to match, and pale mauve velvet 26, 45; &4 16s.—Write 3172, "Daily Mirror, 45, New Bond-street, W.

HANDSOME Empire Tea-Gown of cream Duchesse satin, Irish lace medallions; West End make; 35 guineas.—Write 3174, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

HANDSOME black satin Gown, frills halfway up skirt, bodice with transparent yoke and sleeves, black chiffon fichu; 22, 41; 4 guineas; good as new.—Write 3181, "Daily Mirror," 45 New Bond-street, W.

HANDSOME Caracul satin-lined throughout Coat, high collar, three-quarters; not soiled; cost 13 guineas; what offer?—Write 869, "Daily Miror," 45, New Bond-Street, W.

L ADV has Dresses for disposal; 32, 22, 40; also children's Clothes.—Write 864, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

LTTLE girl's red serge Paletot (about 6) trimmed white Thibet, lined sateen (outgrown); 10s. 6d.—Write 3196, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

LOVELY large white beaver Hat, trimmed with black lace and jet buckles; bandsome outrich plume in black and white; price 45s, 54, cost 8 guiness; French model; quite new.—cost 8 guiness; French model; quite new.—New Bond-street, W.

MANY useful cloth Coats and Skirts an Costumes; from £1.—The Bond Street Dres Agency, Limited, 95, New Bond-street, W.

MODEL.—Beautiful cream canvas Gown, hand somely trimmed thick lace, silk line throughout; scarcely solled; 27, 41½; £4 10s.—Write 3113, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond street, W.

NAVY-BLUE serge "trottoir" costume strappings material; coat lined silk; 22, 38 28s.—Write 3142, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

NURSE'S Uniform, cloak grey, silk-line, cape; nearly new; tailor-made; abort figure.—Write 865, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bondstreet, W.

PALE blue silk Dance Dress; gathered skirt.

Pale blue silk Dance Dress; gathered skirt.

Pale blue silk Dance Dress; gathered skirt.

bdice; not soiled; 24, 40½; 38s.—Write 3214,

Daily Mirror, 45, New Bond-street, W. PERFECTLY new dark blue face cloth Cost tume, coat lined silk, good tailor; misfit 25, 42; 3 guineas, cost double.—Write 3105 "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

Daily Mirror, 49, New Bond-street, W.

PRETTY white alls send-typening Gown; suit young lady 13; frills, lace fichu, elbow ror, 48, New Bond-street, W.56, "Daily Mirror, 48, New Bond-street, irrimed instrucnade lakest style; trimmed instruc10s. 6d.—Write 5093, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

Bond-street, W.

PRETTY flowered silk muslin Gown, beaut:
fully trimmed lace edged fichu, frills, etc.
silk lining; 25, 40; 405, -Write 5162, "Dail Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

REAL Chinchilla Muff. 6 skins; price £3 10s.

-The Bond Street Dress Agency, Ltd., 95.

New Bond-street, W.

New Bond-street, W.

RED and white mixed frieze Russian Coa and short Skirt with pleated flounce guite good and up-to-date; 24, 40; 29s. 6d.-Write 3207, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bondstreet, W.

RIFLE-GREEN Walking Costume, strappe Silk; coat lined cream satin; 22, 37; 40s.-Write 3125, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond street, W.

SABLE Tie, three skins, 16 tails; price £10.-The Bond Street Dress Agency, Ltd., 95 SLOANE Dress Agency, 166, Sloane-street.-Bargains of all kinds; smart gowns, etc.

purchased.

CMART pair black glacé evening Shoes; openN work jetted fronts: French make; cost 25s; accept 18s; size 3.--Write 3091, "Dally Mirrot," 45, New Bond-street, W.

street. W.

SMART navy velvet Toque, trimmed with pe quite new; £1.—The Bond Street Dress Agency Limited, 95, New Bond-street, W.

SMART grey Astrakhan Russian Coat, lines brocade; quite good; 5 guineas.—Write 3109, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W S'MART Parisian Gown for semi-evening wear of cream-spotted canvas; beautifully made, pipings, etc.; lower part of bodice lace; 3 guineas; medium,—Write 311, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

Buneas; medium.—Write 3111, Daily Mirror, '45, New Bond-streek, W.

SMART black satia Blouse; éeru lace, and the third t

"Daily Mirror" Small Advertisement Form.

Small Advertisements written on this Form will be accepted at the Offices of the "Daily Mirror," 45 and 46, New Bond Street, W., or 2, Carmelite Street, E.C. (one minute from Blackfriars Bridge), for insertion in the "Daily Mirror," at the rate of 12 words 1/- (minimum), 1d. per word afterwards. (Name and Address must be paid for.)

If sent by post, the Order Form must be accompanied by postal orders (not stamps) crossed Barclay & Co.

street, W.

SMART black broadtail Russian Coat, good gradier, with fine sable collar and revers guineas; cost by guineas.—Write 3175, "Dail; Mirror." 45, New Bond-street, W.

MART turnules friese Walking Costume S. Russian coat, piped black silk, black cond-and buttons; 26, 41, 45s.—Write 3185, "Daily Mirror." 45, New Bond-street, W. S. fully trimmed black chemile and silk beald round skirt and bodies; 26, 41, 28, 310s.— Write 3164, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-lices, W.

street, W.

SMART indigo blue cloth Coatee and Skirt
triumed black braid, motifi, etc., silk
triumed black braid, motifi, etc., silk
"Baily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

SMART black friezo, "Trottoir Coatume SMART black friezo, "Baily
Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

Mirror, "45, New Bondestreet, W.

Mirror, "45, New Bondestreet, W.

SMART Dlack and white friese tight-fitting Coat and Skirt; perfect, cut, black, volves with the control of the control

D and Muff: cost 10gma, accept & 6e; lined stin.—Write 3204, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bondetteet, W.

Syllast Black lace Over-dress on black glace, evening, long fringed tash, flower 3137, "Daily Mirror," 48, New Bondett, W.

Syllast grey velves Viniting Cown aided 26, 48; 4 guineas.—Write 3126, "Daily Mirror," 43, New Bond-street, W.

Syllast lacey velves Viniting Cown, aided 26, 48; 5 guineas.—Write 3126, "Daily Mirror," 43, New Bond-street, W.

Syllast cherry red cloth Gown, glace sith yapplique, lined silk; cacellent condition: 26, 48; 55s.—Write 3196, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

Syllast heliotrope canvas Afternoon Gowns and silk to match; medium; 45s.—Write 3216, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

Syllast heliotrope canvas Afternoon Gowns and silk to match; medium; 45s.—Write 3216, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond-street, W.

Syllast heliotrope canvas Afternoon Gowns of the street of the syllastic syllas

STYLISH pink and white chenille straw Toque, wings and ribbon to match; quite fresh; 9t. 6d.-Wirtle 3104, "Daily Mirror."
45, New Bondsteet, W.
STYLISH white felt Toque; brim caught up with black velvet and handsome buckle; 18a.-Write 3170, "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bondstreet, N. STYLISH natural brown swathed Hat, with two handsome natural colour o-trich plumes, lined ostrich trimming to match; take 28s.—Write 3179, "Dally Mirror," 45, New Bondsteet, W.

street, W.

TYLISH Afternoon Gown of grey cashmers

Tylish Afternoon Gown of grey cashmers

Yels and the street of the street of the good

Yels and the street of the street of the street

Street of the street of the street of the street

Tylish Yisting Gown of deverger face

Tylish Yisting Gown of the street of t

CTYLISH tailor-made grey tweed three-quarter to the three-quarter to the cloth then dembroidered); 26, 43; £3 10s.; costs of guines. Write 3189, "Daily Mirror," 45 New Bond-street, W.

TAILOR-MADE heather tweld many for tunner, sith-lined Coast, publy some personal coast, publication coast, pu

Write 3103, Daily Mirror.

Write 3103, Daily Mirror.

Write 3103, Daily Mirror.

TROTTOIR Costume of piners and process of the state of

TWO pretty Blouses of pink and the ling sult; good condition, the principle of the ling-bone sitch; 22 wais; 48, Write 3190, "Daily Mirror, arred, W.

write 3130, "Daily Mirror street, W.

USEPUL grey semi-fitting wines good, give by bings, warm luiner good and the property of the street, warm luiner good and the street, warm of the str

USEFUL Gown for girl of dark red cloth, trimgs, 6 on bodice; quite good; many trimgs, 6 on bodice; quite good; with the gown; trimmed black like ret; 26, 41; 24 105; 35, 80°

WHITE cloth Evening Coat, ord.
Weight Coat, ord.

VOUNG lady's Dance Dress of the factors of the fact

Miscellaneous

A BARGAIN.—Handsome set all 12 large knives, 12 sinal steel; Crayford ivory face, 14s. 6d; worth games and madam," Pool's, 90, Fleetsteen and the steel stee

AMERICANS and Private Comments of the second BEAR Carriage Rug; dark lined; quite new; 425; proval.—Major, 2, Claylands-road

DIAMOND Kaffir crystal pl 12s, 6d.; cost 80s.; artis doublet, emeralds and rubies, c sant; set silver gold-cased; ind Lady "B.," 68, Stockwell-road, EXTRAORDINARY Bargaint large sum to find offers programme to find offers programme to find offers programme to the state of the state o FISH KNIVES and Forks; points; silver-mounted; points; silver-mounted; points; some first silver-mounted; spp. (Clapham-road.

HANDSOME Jarrah Tabbe' 18 West Australian guineas.—Western, 95, herd's Bush.

H ANDKERCHIEFS. Lady as par stitched handkerchiefs for converted double; sample one code to the converted double code to the code

L ADY patents with trians of the trians of trians of the trians of trians of the trians of trians of the trians of trians of the trians of trians of the trians of trians of the trians of trians of the trians of t

LADY'S 2-guines silk Umbrella e silver handle yrin meet approximately paragon frame; quite W. 55, Handforth-road, guite W.

MOLESKINS, dressed, for stoleston, 6s. dozen, Adams PAIR etc., 6s. dozen.—Adams Pair silver-backed Hair Brubbe, ror, and silver-mounted or sulver-mounted or sulver-mounted

PATCHWORK direct from plant value, when the property of the pr street, W. Dally Mirror.

ROMAN Pearls: hong 10; 38 No. 10 No. 10

TWO handsome double-damastic day with the large size; good as now, 45 Write 5150. Daily Mirrer street, W. etreet, W. Daily Mirror.

Printed and Published by W. B. Carmellio treet, January 22, 1904. No. 70.

GRE